British Troops Move on Secret Orders

RIOTS MARK SEVENTH DAY OF WALKOUT

London Constable Stabbed In Back and Another Hit On Head with Hammer

FINANCIAL HELP ASKED

Labor in 23 Countries Is Requested to Contribute Cash to Assist Strikers

(By United Press)

LONDON, May 10.—Troops moved in Britain today. A battalion of 1000 men of the East Surrey light infantry left Jersey and the Duke of Cornwall's light infantry left Guernsey. Both units possessed sealed orders.

Jersey and Guernsey are islands in the English channel.

Rioting broke out in London today, the seventh day of the general strike.

A special constable was stabbed in the back today and another special constable was struck over the head with a hammer and seriously injured in a riot at Nine Elms, South London, the government announced.

40 Injured During Riot

Forty persons were injured in a Camdentown riot, according to the government. Two persons were arrested. Seven persons were arrested in suburban Crocklewood.

There is increasing evidence of the strike dwindling, however, the government said, and the situation throughout England was described as "satisfactory."

Workers in 23 countries of the world today were requested to rush funds to the British strikers to enable them to hold out against government efforts to smash the general strike.

The Trades Union congress communique this afternoon announced that $25,000 had been received from the Dutch Federation of Trades Unions and that the general plea for funds had been telegraphed by the International Trades Unions headquarters in Amsterdam. The telegram went to all affiliated unions.

Food Guards Decrease

The daily food convoy traversed London today from the docks to Hyde Park, but with much of the military aspect removed. There were only two armored cars, one in front and another in the middle of the procession. Most trucks were guarded only by a couple of soldiers.

Marjorie Pollitt, the wife of Harry Pollitt, who is England's leading Communist, was remanded for a week in $500 bail from Bow street police court today. Mrs. Pollitt was charged with possessing documents containing false statements likely to disaffect the civil population.

F. H. Thomas, secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen and among the first three or four moderate leaders of Labor, today continued his efforts for peace. In a speech here, Thomas pleaded for discipline and order among the Labor ranks.

"We are not anxious to injure the country," he said.

His remarks were handed out to the newspaper by his supporters. The freedom which the sacrifice and fighting of our forefathers secured will be maintained and handed on by those enjoying it today."

Reply to Government

Thomas' words sum up Labor's reply to the government charge that the country is menaced by a revolution which would destroy parliamentary government. Labor has exerted itself to counteract this government charge which is being reiterated daily in the British Gazette, first by one famous statesman and then another.

Indications of peace as well as of industrial war confuse the situation today. The government has adopted a markedly milder tone in its communications since the inflammatory statement of Friday night, when almost anything could have been read into the government's words.

Man Sentenced To Hang Kills Himself

SALEM, Ore., May 10.—Tom Murray, murderer, under death sentence, cheated the gallows here Sunday night by hanging himself in the death cell where he was confined. The dead man's case was on appeal in the supreme court. With James Willos and Ellsworth Kelley, he was convicted of the murder of two prison guards, John Sweeney and Milton Holman, during a prison break.

FUMES IN VAT KILL CHEMICAL PLANT WORKER

Roy Johns, 30, of North Zeyn street, Anaheim, is dead, and Dr. Gustave Reich, who attempted to rescue the man from a big vat in the Chrystal Chemical company's plant yesterday afternoon, is in a critical condition in the Anaheim sanitarium.

According to information from Anaheim, Johns, disregarding a warning that someone should stand guard when he cleaned the vat, lowered himself into the tank without asking for a guard, went to investigate. Seeing Johns' condition, he notified Dr. Reich, who is manager of the plant. He rushed to the plant and, hastily donning a gas mask, lowered himself by means of a rope into the death tank. In his haste, Dr. Reich's hold on the rope slipped and he fell into the tank and the gas mask dropped off. By this time, other employees of the plant had been summoned and the two unconscious men were taken from the vat.

Both men were removed to the Anaheim sanitarium. Johns lived about an hour after being overcome. His body was taken to the Huddle parlor, where an inquest was set for this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dr. Reich's condition, while serious, is not expected to prove fatal.

Johns' father is expected to arrive in Anaheim today from Fallbrook. Besides his father, Johns is survived by his widow and one child.

5 LEAP INTO SEA AS VESSEL BURNS

VENICE, May 10.—The fishing schooner Kisanos burned to the water's edge about two miles off shore here today, following an explosion in the engine room. Jack Dugan, skipper, and a score of passengers and crewmen, were rescued by the fishing skiffs Cinko and Lark.

Five members of the fishing party jumped into the sea when the flames endangered their lives. They were picked up by the Lark and later towed into port here by a Venice speedboat, which rushed to the scene in response to distress signals.

Those rescued included C. E. Gibson, Los Angeles; S. G. Palmer, Pasadena; A. F. Haines, Beverly Hills; D. A. Graham, Pasadena, and C. G. McPherson, Santa Monica.

Wife of Senator Capper Is Dead

BALTIMORE, Md., May 10.—Mrs. Arthur Capper, wife of U. S. Senator Capper, of Kansas, died at 8:30 o'clock this morning at the Hospital for Women of Maryland.

Mrs. Capper was the daughter of former Gov. and Mrs. Samuel J. Crawford, of Kansas. Her early life was spent at her birthplace, Topeka, Kas. In 1896, she was married to Arthur Capper, then a newspaper reporter.

Mrs. Capper's father was governor of Kansas during the Civil war. He was elected while serving in the 6th as colonel of a Kansas regiment.

Man Goes Under Knife On Train

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 10.—Seeley W. Mudd, mining engineer, of Los Angeles, was recovering in a hospital here today from effects of an emergency operation performed on a transcontinental train enroute to St. Louis. The operation was performed by Dr. Ray Smith, who feared his patient might not live until the train reached St. Louis. The engineer of the train reduced speed to avoid sudden jolts or jerks while the operation was under way, in Mudd's private car.

DEATH RIDES ON HIGHWAYS AND TAKES 11

At Least 58 Are Injured In Automobile Accidents In Pacific Coast States

FOUR PERSONS DROWN

Tragedy List Over Week End in Far West Totals 21, Summary Discloses

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—Death rode on the boulevards and highways and claimed 11 lives as its week-end automobile toll in Pacific coast states. At least 53 were injured.

Drownings swell the death toll by four. Suicides and other forms of tragic death brought the number to 21.

Among three suicides reported in United Press dispatches was Tom Murray, Oregon convict, condemned to death for his part in the murder of two state prison guards at Salem. He hanged himself in his death cell. Included in the 11 automobile victims was Charles S. Howard, 15-year-old son of C. S. Howard, prominent Pacific coast automobile dealer. The boy was killed near Willets, Calif., when a truck in which he was returning from a fishing trip overturned.

Eight of the automobile deaths occurred in California, one in Oregon and two in Washington.

The week-end tragic death toll, by state:

California

Los Angeles—Mrs. Sarah Duran, 46, run down by auto; Richard Madhesian, 5, run down by automobile.

Hollywood—Unidentified man, suicide.

San Fernando—Miss Priscilla White, 72, run down by automobile.

Whittier—W. D. Humphrey, Bloomington, Calif., auto collision.

Lancaster—Walter Bashore, auto accident in Mint canyon.

Sacramento—Alfred McKoy, 19, auto accident; Mrs. Ida Hicks, 69, accidentally asphyxiated by gas.

Oakland—George Boerner, 18, drowned in Oakland estuary.

Willets—Charles S. Howard, 15, killed in overturned truck.

Santa Rosa—Ralph Foresti, 21, drowned while swimming.

San Francisco—H. Jackson, taxi driver, auto collision; Theodore Kappel, 55, suicide by gas.

Salem—Tom Murray, convict murderer, suicide by hanging.

Arlington—Max Caplow, Portland, drowned in Columbia river.

Astoria—Mrs. Hilda Anderson, car skidded off lower Columbia River highway.

Washington

Seattle—C. T. Herod, 73, drowned; Frank Joseph Grossman, 30, and William F. Svoboda, 32, killed in auto accident; Kenneth Tappe, died from injuries received in logging camp.

Granite Falls—D. Carlson, 50, Seattle, burned to death in mountain cabin.

FALLS TO DEATH

LOS ANGELES, May 10.—Arthur H. Henson, 20, carpenter, fell from a third-story scaffolding shortly after beginning work today. His skull hit the pavement and he died enroute to the hospital.

A Community Achievement

Very often the Register finds reason to be proud of Santa Ana and, incidentally of its own part in the achievement—but principally proud of Santa Ana, because whatever the Register has accomplished is largely a community achievement.

For instance, some authentic figures recently published show the average weekly wages paid by several industries as follows: Textiles $20, Lumber $21, Food Products $23, Automobiles $28, Iron and Steel $30, Printing $31.

It will thus be seen that the printing or publishing business pays the largest wages of any of the big universal industries.

And the Register's pay roll shows that it pays over 31 per cent higher wages than the average of the printing and publishing business. For the average weekly wages paid by this paper to all employees, exclusive of officers and executive salaries, is $40.85.

But that isn't all. More important and significant is the fact that, while the Register pays exceptionally high wages for a paper of its class, it also gives its patrons exceptional values for their money. We believe that it is true—we know that it is generally conceded—that at least no better newspaper (of the same class) than the Register is published anywhere for 65 cents per month. And a comparison of advertising rates shows that those of the Register are the lowest per 1000 circulation of any paper of its class in the state.

This achievement of highest pay for workers and lowest costs for consumers is due to volume production. The Register has the largest circulation and the largest volume of advertising in proportion to the population of its field, of any paper in the state.

MAP SHOWING ROUTE TAKEN BY BYRD IN HISTORY-MAKING FLIGHT TO NORTH POLE

Hailed as the first men to fly to the north pole, Lt. Com. Richard N. Byrd, U. S. navy, and his pilot, Floyd Bennett, both Americans, have returned to their base at Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, after an absence of 15 hours, during which they soared over the top of the earth, but failed to find land. Dotted line shows approximate route traversed.

WOOD TO QUIT AS GOVERNOR OF PHILIPPINES

(By United Press)

MANILA, P. I., May 10.—Gov. Gen. Leonard Wood is planning to resign early next year, the United Press was reliably informed today.

Governor Wood, however, declined to comment on the report that Col. Carmel Thompson is slated to take over the office after submitting his economic report to President Coolidge.

Announcement that Governor Wood will leave with his family for the United States in November is interpreted here as the first step in his retirement.

It is understood that President Coolidge and Governor Wood agreed jointly to the appointment of Colonel Thompson, in order to make him a logical successor to the post.

It is believed Governor Wood will retire from public life and reside in California, where he will write his memoirs.

4 PRISONERS FLEE JAIL AT CALEXICO

CALEXICO, May 10.—A man hunt was on in this section today for trace of four dangerous criminals who escaped from the city jail Sunday.

The fugitives are William E. Wise, alleged forger; M. M. Bigelow and R. J. Kelley, held on automobile theft charges, and Benito Cisneros, Mexican, accused of vagrancy.

They escaped by sawing the bars of a skylight above their cell, lowering themselves to the ground with a rope made of blankets.

U. S. Marines Bring Calm In Nicaragua

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Landing of American marines at Bluefields, Nicaragua, in connection with the revolution there, has quieted the situation, according to consular reports to the state department today. The marines have accorded protection to the collector of customs and the National bank and declared Bluefields a neutral zone.

CAT-EYE ANNIE ESCAPES FROM AUBURN PRISON

(By United Press)

AUBURN, N. Y., May 10.—Digging her way through an 18-inch wall, Lillian McDonald, better known to the police of the United States as "Cat-Eye Annie," notorious jewel thief, escaped from the state prison here today.

The woman, who was serving a 10-year sentence for grand larceny, was in solitary confinement as an incorrigible. She escaped while wall sentries were off duty.

After digging through the wall with an iron bar used for raising the heavy prison windows, she took a plank from the greenhouse and scaled a 12 foot wall to freedom.

Nona saw her go and searching parties have been unable to find any trace of her.

Three Killed In Railroad Crash

DUMBEST CREATURES IN WORLD ARRIVE IN L. A.

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, May 10.—The world's dumbest creatures, 60 Panama sloths, were in Los Angeles today, enroute to Kansas City for exhibition in the Horne Zoological gardens.

They arrived at Los Angeles Harbor Sunday, in custody of J. E. Stoffel, who captured the stupid animals in the Panama jungles.

The sloth is noted as the most inert animal in the world, not excepting the Arizona good-inkus. It hangs by its tail all day and will not even twitch when poked at.

Stoffel claims it takes a Panama sloth just two minutes to turn over. However, it took one of them just two seconds to bite the collector in the finger when he took the animal out in the sun to be photographed.

Two Aviators Return to Kings Bay, After Spectacular Dash Into North

IN AIR FOR 15 HOURS

No Land Is Visible, But Big Strip of Water, Seen By Amundsen, Is Found

(By United Press)

SLO, Norway, May 10.—Lt. Com. Richard E. Byrd, U.S.N., and his pilot, Floyd Bennett, were hailed today as new conquerors of the north pole.

The aviators returned to Kings Bay, Spitzbergen yesterday afternoon and reported that they had flown over the north pole.

In the Byrd expedition's airplane, according to advices from Kings Bay.

Byrd and Bennett took the air on their flight toward the pole at 1:55 a. m., yesterday, returning at 5 p. m., after an absence of 15 hours.

R. E. Byrd declared that no land was visible at the pole, dispatches said.

He discovered a large strip of water, such as Amundsen saw.

On arrival at Spitzbergen, the aviators were bombarded with questions. Townspeople rushed to their homes to watch the return flight, as, after circling the town at a height of 2000 meters in radiant sunshine, he landed beautifully. The "Star Spangled Banner" was played by an orchestra on the steamer Heimdal as he landed, it is reported.

COMMANDER CERTAIN HE REACHED POLE

COPENHAGEN, May 10.—No land was found in polar regions by the Byrd expedition, dispatches from Spitzbergen quote the commander as saying.

Byrd declared that, when he thought he was near the pole, he circled smaller and smaller areas until he was finally sure that the pole had been reached. It was then he turned the plane toward Spitzbergen again.

Speed on the voyage averaged 165 kilometers an hour, the dispatches said.

While some Danish and Norwegian experts expressed doubt as to whether it would be possible for an aviator accurately to observe his position while his plane was in flight, the Danish explorer, Freuchen, in an exclusive interview with the United Press today, declared his belief that Commander Byrd had achieved his objective.

"I believe Byrd reached the pole," he said. "He is trustworthy, and everyone will testify to his honesty."

With his new instrument outfit, Byrd can take very close observations while flying and has calculated his position with a few miles of certainty."

The Danish officer, Rilschartsen, who accompanied Byrd to Greenland in 1925, told the United Press:

"If Commander Byrd says he reached the pole, it is positively correct. He is a perfect gentleman."

NO DOUBT HE REACHED REGION OF NORTH POLE

OSLO, Norway, May 10.—The newspaper "Tidens" declares editorially today that there is no reason to doubt that Commander Byrd reached the neighborhood of the pole, and praises his speed, cleverness and luck with weather conditions. It expressed the opinion, however, that distinct observations from a flying airplane are difficult.

FOUL PLAY IS FEARED IN DISAPPEARANCE OF WARD

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, May 10.—Police of three states and private detectives joined today in a search for Walter S. Ward, who has not been seen or heard from since last Wednesday.

Ralph D. Ward, the missing man's brother, reported his disappearance to the missing persons bureau here with the intimation that the family, connected with the wealthy Ward baking interests, feared foul play. Three years ago, Walter Ward was acquitted of the murder of Clarence M. Peters, a sailor, and it was understood his life since has been threatened.

Ward was acquitted of the Peters murder after he had alleged that he had been the victim of a blackmail plot, but details of the blackmail were never made public.

WARNING

Pain is the message conveyed to the brain by the nerves, which are the telephone wires of the body. Any undue pressure upon a nerve caused by injury or inflammation in any part will set these wires going and notify the individual that something is wrong. These friendly warnings of nature should be heeded. When pain comes, therefore, we should not try to kill it, but to relieve it by removing the cause.

In order to remove the cause of your pain, sickness or disease, we must first find the location of that cause. This is done by taking an X-Ray picture of the bony segments of the spine where the nerves are subject to pressure as they exit through the little openings. These nerves carry all of the nerve force or functional energy received by the heart, lungs, liver, stomach, kidneys, bowels, etc., and by viewing an X-Ray picture the condition with your own eyes. This assures you that your case is not being guessed at.

Then with our hands alone we adjust these bony segments into their proper position. In this manner health has been permanently restored to hundreds of people suffering with such conditions as heart palpitation, liver trouble, biliousness, stomach and kidney trouble, chronic constipation and uncomfortable diseases which, if neglected, gradually become worse instead of better.

Chiropractic is not a cure-all, nor do we claim it to be such, but we do know that hundreds of sick people have been restored to health by MARTYN FREE X-RAY CHIROPRACTORS after they had become discouraged and about ready to give up hope.

If you are sick, don't say you have tried everything until you have consulted us about your case. For the next seven days the coupon below will entitle the bearer to a complete spinal examination, and without charge or obligation we will make a standard size X-Ray picture showing the exact cause of your trouble. If you are sick and wish to be well, just clip the coupon below.

BRITISH TROOPS MOVE IN SECRET

words. Labor by various means is stressing the desirability of some one effecting a truce which would lead to peace.

London today, however, is heavily policed with uniformed men and to their ranks are added thousands of special constables recruited from the civil population. These emergency constables are distinguished by arm bands.

Bitter Debate in Commons

Angry debate and recrimination, with David Lloyd George in the midst of the uproar, marked today's session of the house of commons. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of York listened from a gallery.

Lloyd George roused the Conservatives with an attack on the government's iron-fisted policy of strike slappings, which had excluded from the columns of the British Gazette the peace proposals of the Archbishop of Canterbury, the highest churchman of the country.

Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, was compelled by the protests of Lloyd George and the Laborites to promise to publish the archbishop's proposals, which now are several days old.

Labor Discloses Snub

Labor issued a communique today relating another snub from the government for workers' efforts to participate in the peaceful operation of vital services.

The communique announced that the trades unions, at the government's request, had cancelled all "food permits" issued from strike headquarters to dealers in food. The government requested cancellation so that strikers in the vicinity of the dock would not be obliged to interfere with trucks carrying foodstuffs to firms without permits.

Before requesting cancellation of the permits, the government had ordered the dock authorities not to give food to anyone showing a Labor permit, thus making the permits an actual bar against obtaining supplies.

Emphasis was laid on the absence of violence in the British general strike in today's official government communique. Progress of the strike was detailed.

Although the government has maintained that the strike was a threat against it and was revolutionary in character, it today continued its conservative policy in its communique and quoted J. H. Thomas, Labor leader, as saying that, even though the strikers win a complete victory, "there was not a member of the general council (of the trades unions) who would dare to say their object was to supersede constitutional government."

The London Press is emerging from the shadow of the general strike. Several morning papers appeared today. Although some did not reach the street until mid-forenoon.

The London Times, the Financial Times, the British Gazette and the Daily Mail were among those on sale. For the first time, the Mail today had room for the work of Poy, the popular political cartoonist.

The Daily Graphic, a picture paper, appeared as a small single sheet, with three pictures on one side and news on the other. The Daily Express was a small single sheet, devoted to news.

The stock exchange opened today with the quietness characteristic of the past week, but the crisis still is viewed optimistically. Values were steady.

King George has intervened in an effort to hurry the truce which must come eventually. His Majesty conferred with Sir William Joynson-Hicks and the Earl of Balfour at Buckingham palace. Balfour is one of the empire's elder statesmen. Joynson-Hicks, the home secretary, is the administrative head of the emergency organization created to maintain government supremacy during the strike.

Royal intervention has redoubled the nation's hopes for peace. It was followed quickly by active steps by the government to formulate proposals for reorganization of the mining industry to be put to the miners and mine owners as soon as the strike is broken or the strike order withdrawn.

Widely separated disturbances continued last night. The most serious was at Battersea, the parliamentary constituency of Shapurji Saklatvala, Communist M. P., where several policemen were injured in a Labor demonstration before the crowd was dispersed.

The mayor of Middlesboro, where there has been considerable trouble throughout the strike period, has appealed to "respectable" persons to remain in town during evenings. The appeal followed outbreaks of hoodlums, during which the police were impeded by the presence of a large number of spectators.

FUGITIVES SOUGHT
BY OFFICERS HERE

Sheriff's officers conducted a fruitless county wide search yesterday for four men, who escaped from jail in Calexico early yesterday morning, a few hours before they were scheduled to be removed to San Quentin. The fugitives were said to be making their way toward Santa Ana when last seen.

The prisoners, all dangerous criminals, were seen in a truck, driven by a Mexican and occupied also by two women, according to a report received here.

Escape from the jail was made by sawing bars covering a skylight. The men are William Wise, M. M. Bigelow, R. J. Kelley and a Mexican, whose name was not learned here. Wise is said to have served a previous prison sentence.

Police News

H. G. Mathews, 1519 North Main street, reported to the sheriff's office Saturday, the theft of a new balloon tire from the rear of his machine.

F. C. Owens, Placentia, reported the theft of his automobile from Fullerton, Saturday night. The sheriff's office here was given a description of the machine.

Three men, arrested yesterday afternoon in Orange County park by Officers Jack Combs and H. W. McKague, of the sheriff's office, were fined in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today. The men were D. W. Chaffee, 24, laborer, of Puente, $50; Charles Phillips, 13, truck driver, of Puente, $25, and Phil Robinson, 27, truck driver, of Garden Grove, $25.

Lawrence Haynes, 20, wanted in Los Angeles, was arrested yesterday in San Juan Capistrano by Deputy Sheriff Callis. He was lodged in the county jail and later taken to Los Angeles.

N. Luna, arrested yesterday by Officers P. Hurd and Don Mozley, deputy sheriffs, today was fined $15 on a drunk charge, in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

Homer L. Ford, 23, arrested in San Juan Capistrano yesterday by Officers Adams and Wallace, of the sheriff's office, for the department of justice, was lodged in jail here.

N. Huddleston, 28, charged with issuing a fictitious check in Anaheim, was placed in the Orange county jail Saturday afternoon by Ed Marion, constable. He has not been arraigned.

A quantity of heavy lubricating oil was stolen from the Ballard Service station, 817 East Fourth street, between 5 p. m. and 8 p. m. Saturday, according to a report filed with the city police.

Lloyd Perry, charged with being drunk, was arrested at 3 p. m. yesterday. He later was released on bail of $25 and will appear in Judge J. F. Talbot's court today.

Two automobiles were reported to city police as stolen over the week end. A machine owned by Roy Barnes was reported stolen from Browning avenue, Tustin, and a machine owned by Frank Oshiko, 829 South Cordura street, Anaheim, was stolen from his garage, Saturday night. Neither machine has been found.

BYRD HAILED AS POLE CONQUEROR

Spitzbergen, after 15 hours' flying in their big three-motored Fokker plane and announced they had flown to the north pole.

If their claim is substantiated by scientific checking on instruments and data, they will have brought to America signal honors.

They will be recognized as two of the four persons who have seen the north pole. All of the four will be Americans.

The other are Adm. Robert E. Peary, who, in 1909, as the climax of years of persevering effort, nudged with dog teams over the arctic ice to the pole, and Matt Hanson, negro, who was Peary's sole companion in the final sled dash to the "top of the world."

Peary is now dead and Hanson lives a life of comparative obscurity, much of the time in New York.

First to Reach Pole By Air

Byrd staked everything on a desperate effort to realize an ambition to be the first to reach the pole by air and to head the second expedition ever to reach it.

His plan originally was to wait until later in the season before making the final flight, but with Capt. Roald Amundsen and the Amundsen-Ellsworth-Nobile expedition and their dirigible Norge already at Kings Bay ready for their polar dash, and with Capt. George Wilkins and the Detroit Aero Club expedition in Alaska speeding preparations for a similar trip by airplane, Byrd suddenly ordered the flight made.

Almost without previous heralding, he took off yesterday and was nearly back before word of his start had been printed—this in contrast to the long months it took Peary to trudge over the snow and ice to his final victory on April 6, 1909.

Cables from north European capitals quote Byrd as saying he circled the pole thrice, unfurled an American flag and dropped a box of documents.

Congratulated by Coolidge

President Coolidge, in a congratulatory message, says:

"It is a matter of great satisfaction that this record was made by an American."

Secretary of War Davis and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur issued similar statements.

Congratulations are pouring in on Mrs. R. B. Byrd sr., mother of the aviator, at her home in Richmond, Va., and on Gov. Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, the flyer's brother.

Copenhagen dispatches quoted Byrd as saying, after his return, that no land had been found in the area covered by the flight. Speed of the plane averaged 155 kilometers an hour, the message said.

Some Danish and Norwegian experts voiced doubts as to whether Byrd actually reached the pole. They claimed it is almost impossible to take safe observations from an airplane while flying. They declared Byrd's observations must be examination most closely before decision on whether he reached the pole is made.

"Nobody can prove that he has been nearer than 100 kilometers to the pole unless he landed and took at least two observations from the ground," said Koch, Danish arctic expert.

Climaxes Years of Effort

Byrd now claims to be the first man to have flown to the north pole by airplane—the climax of the era of arctic exploration by air which started in 1923, when Roald Amundsen made his first gesture to fly from Alaska to Spitzbergen.

Amundsen failed to get away on the flight, owing to a faulty plane. In 1925, Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth, American, went to Spitzbergen to fly to the pole, but were forced to land within about 150 miles of their goal and for days were locked in the ice. Finally they freed their airplane and returned.

While Amundsen and Ellsworth were engaged in their attempt, Byrd was heading the air contingent with Donald MacMillan's expedition into the arctic. It was forced to abandon some wharves of its plans, but Byrd gained experience in arctic flying—he personally flew 3000 miles on the trip and supervised several thousand miles of flying done by others—which convinced him the airplane was the best method of arctic exploration.

Open Season for Exploring

Nineteen twenty-six became an open season for polar expeditions. Byrd, Amundsen and Wilkins all made early starts for their bases and the race to cross the pole by air was made. Byrd now claims the victory.

In all this work, the United States has taken the lead. The Byrd and Wilkins expeditions are all-American. In the Amundsen party, Ellsworth, an American, shares with Amundsen, Norwegian, and Commander Nobile, Italian, the leadership.

That crying is hard work has been proved by a Danish physiologist who shows that the tissue change in a crying baby is twice that of a sleeping one.

A WORD OF COMFORT
It is said that from the bottom of a deep pit the stars can be seen in the heavens at noon.
Sometimes it seems as though it is not until we have been deprived of what we cherish as we "look from the horizon" that we are willing to look up and are able to discern the guidance God vouchsafes to lead us along the path to higher and finer attainments.
Perhaps you would never have seen the stars, had not fortune hurled you to the bottom of the pit of disappointment and sorrow.

CITY OFFICERS ARREST MAN ON GAMING CHARGE

Charged with operating a gambling house, Antonio Medina, 50, who lives at 1823 West Third street, was arrested yesterday, when Officers Howard and Smithwick walked into his house during the progress of an alleged poker game. Medina is being held in the county jail and probably will be given a hearing today before Judge J. F. Talbott.

The officers did not expect to pay Medina a visit, but were in the West Third district investigating another case. When Howard walked in the front door, about 15 Mexicans are alleged to have reached for money on the table.

Howard collected $5.50, which is alleged to have been in the game at the time it was terminated. Medina was the only man arrested.

2 MORE SACRED CONCERTS WILL BE PRESENTED

A sacred concert in Birch Park, on Sunday afternoon, May 23, by the Santa Ana Municipal band, and a concert by the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra, in the Four Square tabernacle on Sunday afternoon, May 16, will close the series of sacred concerts being presented here by the orchestra and band, it was announced today by D. C. Cianfoni, director, following the concert given yesterday afternoon in the Evangelical church, Tenth and Main streets.

Lovers of music crowded the church to its capacity yesterday, on the occasion of the fourth Sunday afternoon concert by the orchestra. The audience was enthusiastic and liberal in its appreciation of the numbers given. Residents of a number of cities of the county were present.

Holly Lash Visel was the soloist and she sang, in her usual finished manner, "Oh! Had I Jubal's Lyre," from Handel's "Joshua," and an encore appropriate to Mother's day. The ever popular "Cavatina" (Ruff), the selection from "Traviata" and Solvej's song, by Grieg, were the outstanding numbers of the program, which was closed with Mozart's "Magic Flute."

During the intermission, the Rev. E. J. Nickel, pastor of the church, made a brief address, in which he complimented the musical organization on its fine talent and expressed appreciation of the generosity of the orchestra in presenting the series of sacred concerts. The orchestra will give a program in the First Methodist church here on the evening of May 23.

The last concert by the organization will be presented in the Methodist White Temple church, Anaheim, Sunday, May 30.

ROMANCE MUST SUFFER, FOR LAW IS SEVERE, AND IT IS WRONG TO CARVE INITIALS

Farewell to another cherished pastime of youthful romance. The instinct to carve the initials of yourself and best girl upon a convenient tree, encircled perhaps with a heart and arrow, now is a crime, if indulged.

The science of forestry has frowned upon this treasured expression of puppy love, even as the board of health has defamed the kiss. Tax economists have sound-bled its doom and it now is written into the statute books of Orange county as a misdemeanor.

Youths Are Fined
This was revealed today, when Justice Kenneth E. Morrison, who used to carve his own initials on adjacent portions of Washington timber in the not so far distant past, assessed a fine of $10 each to two youths, who, with a girl, were haled into his court by H. M. McKague, county park guardian and deputy county forester.

E. L. Knight, of Garden Grove, and Jack Brewer, of Huntington Park, had escorted Miss Claudia Skaggs, of Bell, to the county park. It was a lovely spring day and in spring, it is well known, the young man's fancy turns to thoughts of—

Anyway, the youths and maiden picked out a large Sycamore and whittled out a section of bark. There they were busily engaged in blocking out their initials, Claudia doing her share, when McKague swooped down upon them.

In court today, Justice Morrison shook his head regretfully, as he pronounced judgment.

Girl Gets Warning
"I don't want to be severe," he said, "but this is an infraction of the law, and must be punished." He paused dramatically, as though gazing back in memory upon various knife marks upon the country park timber. Then he added, "The young lady will be let off this time with a warning."

"What are we coming to when the young folks can't carve their initials on trees any more? What will happen to courtship?" the inquisitive reporter asked of McKague.

"Fuh, I don't know about that, but I know what will happen to those trees if they keep hacking them up," the forester retorted. "With a piece of bark stripped off, that way, dry rot will set in, unless the wound is discovered at once. If we get it in time, maybe we can save the tree and maybe we can't. But the county spent $1500 last year alone on cutting up trees in the county park. That's pretty expensive romance."

CHRYSLER PRICE CUTS ANNOUNCED

Paul Clark, manager for Hancock brothers, local Chrysler dealers today received notice from the Chrysler corporation, Detroit, that sharp reductions had been made in Chrysler prices. The prices were effective last night on the six-cylinder "70" model and range from $36 to $200.

"In the accomplishment of these lower prices, there is absolutely no change in engineering, manufacturing specifications or in equipment," Walter Chrysler, president of the corporation, said.

"The reductions have been made possible by a tremendous increase in the company's six-cylinder production. Retail prices for the first quarter of this year have been 31 per cent greater than for the same period a year ago, with orders on hand assuring even greater increases in the coming quarters."

THREE 50-MILE DRIVERS LAND IN POLICE NET

Speeding along the San Diego highway at 50 miles an hour, without lights on his machine, secured an invitation to meet Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison next Friday for R. A. Eatey, 655 Woods street, Los Angeles, last night. He was arrested by Pat Hurd, state motor cop, who also charged the man with passing another machine on a hill.

Hurd also is responsible for the arrest last night, of Adolph Wiedoeft, 822 South Coronado street, Los Angeles, brother of the country's best known saxophone player Adolph Wiedoeft was driving a car occupied by his famous brother, Herbert, when arrested. Youths Are Held For Investigation

Now Ready for Colonization!

The Wilson Ranch

10 Miles Northwest of Chico, Calif.

Read what people have to say that are now living on Wilson Ranch!

3300 Irrigated Fertile Acres To Be Sold in 20 to 40 Acre Tracts

The Wilson Ranch, 3300 fertile acres under irrigation, now ready for colonization in 20 and 40-acre tracts. The Wilson Ranch lands are located in Butte County 10 miles from the concrete highway and hard gravel road, northwest of Chico, a very delightful city in the north central part of the Sacramento Valley with a population of more than 15,000 people. The main line of the Southern Pacific railroad from San Francisco to Portland crosses the northeast corner of the property. A shipping station and the village of Norde is only about 2 1/2 miles from the center of the ranch. The western boundary is the Sacramento river. Eleven miles to the southeast is the United States Plant and Production Garden. This locality was selected by the United States government for its first introduction station in 1905 because of its desirable climate, fertile soil, abundance of water and perfect drainage. Trees, shrubs, vines and every known variety of flowers from every country in the world are experimented with here for adaptation to conditions in California. Two miles north of the Wilson Ranch lands and extending for many miles is the Leland Stanford Ranch. This land was selected many years ago by Senator Stanford because of its very excellent quality and its promising productivity. The Ranch is planted to orchards and vineyards, while alfalfa and stock are a part of the operations.

The Wilson Ranch lands are composed of the vinal loam type of soil which ranges from sandy silt loams to the heavier types are is from 15 to 20 feet in depth. These soils are absolutely free from all injurious salts. The soils have been built up through countless ages from silt deposits from the Sacramento river. It is conceded by all recognized soil authorities that the lands near or adjacent to the Sacramento river are the most productive of our California lands.

For information regarding Wilson Ranch, see O. B. Baxter, P. O. Box 13, Anaheim; A. L. Wells, 745, N. Paulina St., Anaheim, and Bert T. Barr, 615 N. Lemon St., Anaheim, Phone 1236-W. Free trips can be arranged with any of these men to Wilson Ranch at any time.

First Investment Co., Red Bluff, Calif. Norde, Calif. May 8, 1926

Gentlemen:

In reply to the request of your Mr. J. E. Allen regarding how I like Wilson Ranch and if I have found things and conditions as expected and as were represented by the agents selling for you, wish to advise that I am entirely satisfied in every respect. Both the land I bought and my leased land appeals to me to be about as good as any land in the State of California. I am growing corn and beans and look for a bumper crop this year. The land is very free and nice to work and my well is much better than was promised me in your contract. I would be only too glad to recommend to any of my friends Wilson Ranch for general farming and fruit growing.

Yours truly,
DAVE RICHARDS

First Investment Co., Red Bluff, Calif. Norde, Calif. May 8, 1926

Gentlemen:

Have now been living on the Wilson Ranch for about four months and I am writing this letter with thought of you using it for advertising Wilson Ranch if you see fit. I have my land in fine shape for a bean crop and I am not only satisfied with my land, but am really happy and glad your Orange County agents are getting me to come and see Wilson Ranch. I like this country and inasmuch as we are so near to Chico and have paved roads, together with every other necessity such as good stores and marketing places for our produce, etc., would like to have your agents call on all of my friends on the Irvine Ranch and get them to come here to buy and make their homes. We have schools as good as anywhere in California.

Yours truly,
IDA B. KING

The popular and well known booster died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. J. Champion, 1406 West Third street, following an illness of several months.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m., tomorrow, in the Smith and Tutill chapel, with the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating.

Mr. McDannald is survived by his wife, three sons and three daughters, Jack, Sacramento; Rex, Merced; Lynn, St. Helena, Calif.; Mrs. Bell Vincent, Lindsay, Calif.; and Mrs. Gladys Jesse and Mrs. Mary Champion, Santa Ana.

McDannald was the author of many high class descriptive articles on Orange county and Southern California and his writings were readily accepted by magazines, devoted to promoting California, and other publications.

He was Orange county representative at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce for 12 years, having been chosen for that position by the county board of supervisors because of his superior qualifications and the fund of information he had as to details of all phases of activity in this county.

With S. A. Chamber McDannald first became identified with this work in 1903 and continued his service in Los Angeles until 1920, when he took up other work, first identifying himself with the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce as outside representative and as "contact" man for the organization.

Later he joined his son in St. Helena and engaged in the real estate business. It was but a short time before active men in St. Helena recognized his ability as a booster and placed him in the position of secretary of the Chamber of Commerce there. Two years ago he was chosen secretary of the chamber in Escondido and, while there, he successfully promoted the introduction of silk culture, an industry that promises much for the Escondido district.

It was McDannald who introduced and interested Orange county men in the growing of many of the rare fruits that are produced in this county and it was he who brought to the attention of the local public and the outside world that Orange county produces a greater variety of products than any other county in the United States. He promoted these facts in his writings. It is doubtful if any man in Orange county has written more publicity than McDannald that was acceptable to publishers outside the confines of Orange county.

Born in Illinois
McDannald was born Sept. 22, 1851, near Quincy, Ill., and crossed the plains in 1865, locating in Walla Walla, Wn. In 1886, he won the championship of that state for penmanship; in a contest participated in by a large number of expert penmen.

At the age of 20, he went to Heald's Business College, in San Francisco. He attended school at night and passed the daytime in organization of a lodge of the Knights of Pythias. He was a member of the Santa lodge at the time of his death.

The departed booster came to Southern California in 1897, first locating in Azusa. He came to Orange county in 1897. He first engaged in farming operations on Berrydale road, Buena district, continuing in that occupation until appointed county representative in the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce building.

A suit for $6550 damages stood on record today in superior court, as the aftermath of fatal injuries sustained by the late E. J. Leggett, of Orange, who died last November 15, two weeks after an automobile collision on the road between Villa Park and the county park.

The damage action was filed by Maude L. Stowell daughter of the deceased, and administratrix of his estate, against W. E. McMann. McMann was driver of a car that collided with the machine in which Leggett was riding at the time of the fatal accident.

The damage claim includes $5000 for the death of Leggett, the balance representing funeral expenses, doctor bills and car damage.

Claim $1000 Damages
The estate of Quincy Carlock, who died June 16 from injuries, alleged to have been received while in the employ of the Olinda Land company, consisted only of a claim by his parents for $1000 damages against the land company. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ashel Carlock, of Wichita, Kas., are heirs to the estate, according to a petition for letters of administration, led today in superior court by Nina Mead Ayers.

Cruelty Is Charged
Mrs. Hazel Ferguson has filed a suit in superior court against L. A. Ferguson for divorce, charging cruelty. The couple, married in Albany, Ore., in 1919, and separated in Santa Ana last June 15. Mrs. Ferguson alleges that her husband falsely accused her of infidelity. Attorney Roland Thompson represents her.

DEAD SPANISH
WAR VETERANS
TO BE HONORED

Erection of a monument to the memory of Louis W. Baker, artificer, Guy W. Halladay, C. L. North and W. P. Northcross, of Company L, Seventh Volunteer Regiment, Infantry, will be made in Orange County park this year and dedication will be made on the afternoon of Armistice day. It was decided yesterday at the annual reunion of the company of Santa Ana and Orange county men, which marched away to war in the brief disturbance of relations between the United States and Spain, in 1898.

The reunion was featured yesterday by the largest attendance of members since 1909 and a happy day was passed by the veterans in renewing acquaintances and in recounting individual experiences during their service. Dinner was prepared and served under the direction of Charles Waffle and M. V. Allen, who have officiated in this capacity for many years.

A tablet, made from a piece of bronze from the Maine, the possession of Col. S. H. Finley for many years, contains the names of the dead members. This will be placed on the granite monument, as will also a tablet containing the full roster of the company.

The cannon, captured by General Shafter, in Cuba, during the Spanish-American war, and which formerly stood on the courthouse grounds here, will be a part of the setting for the monument.

The company plans to have 50 men in the Armistice day parade here on November 11. Dedication of the monument will follow in the afternoon.

Present at the reunion yesterday, many of them accompanied by their families, were S. H. Finley, captain; W. A. Greenleaf, first sergeant; C. W. Hannan and G. P. son, Clyde Bishop, E. G. Glenn, F. Campbell, sergeants; B. E. Johnson, A. P. Dresser, E. B. Collier, corporals; C. E. Waffle, Elmer Dilley, H. A. Chase, L. H. Adams, H. J. Muffelman, E. R. Bradbury, J. O. McGowan, H. F. zigley, E. C. Men's Engagement Rings

The Troth Ring custom is being revived in America. It is particularly fitting that the intended groom should receive from his affianced a ring appropriate of the occasion. It may be a signet ring or a stone set ring, the stone symbolizing either the month of his birth or the month of their betrothal. The intimate individuality of such a present endows it with a more enduring value than many a mere personal trinket could win.

Friendly Hospitality Extended by Hostess At Two Luncheons

OFFERING the second of a pair of delightful parties, Mrs. J. C. Schmidt of 2055 North Main street entertained Saturday at a 1 o'clock luncheon planned along similar lines to the first which she gave on Thursday, also at her home.

Mrs. Schmidt's hospitality is that happy kind that places her home at the disposal of her guests, and her vivacity makes every moment a pleasant one. At Saturday's affair, Santa Ana friends were given the opportunity to meet two charming English women, Mrs. Sam Nowell and Mrs. Floyd Beswick, now of Long Beach. The two were house guests of the hostess, and later in the afternoon were joined by Mr. Nowell and Mr. Beswick for dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt.

A variety of spring flowers gave a garden-like effect to the home; one especially lovely group noted, being a tall cluster of deep red penstemon rising by a ruby glass cuspate. Luncheon tables were centered with pastel arrangement of posies, with nut cups to harmonize with the various dainty colors. Guests complimented Mrs. Schmidt upon the artistic effect achieved in her lunch menu, one of the visitors declaring it to be "as good as it was beautiful."

Place cards also indicated the places at the card tables in the afternoon of bridge. Five tables of bridge were played with one table arranged for a fan for those who did not care for the other game. Mrs. B. F. White took honors in bridge, receiving an amber glass covered compote, while a small plaque (some of the exquisite work of Nanvne Yould) was awarded Mrs. W. H. DeWolfe scoring second high, and an apple of Dutch chocolate was sweet consolation to Mrs. Parke Roper.

Mrs. F. E. Coulter received a delft ginger jar, filled with preserved ginger, for winning at fan-tan, while to two guests, Miss Jennie Lasby and Miss Lulu Minter, came a special surprise gift of dainty handkerchiefs accompanied by amusing tickets and baggage checks, suggesting the trip abroad which each will enjoy later in the season.

At the initial of the two functions, Mrs. Schmidt followed much the same plan in entertaining and decked her home with quite as lovely flowers. Mrs. Angus J. Crookshank took high honors with Mrs. Parke Roper second, and Mrs. W. H. Harrison receiving the consolation gift.

The theme for the day was consecration and that thought was emphasized again and again in the addresses of the speakers. The first address was "The Measure of Consecration," Mrs. M. Grant Edwards on "Civico Consecration," and the stirring address on "The Response to the Gospel on Virgin Soil," given by Harold M. Young, who told of the response of the natives of eastern Burma and western China to the gospel message. Seventeen thousand having been baptized from the Lahu and Wa people.

Mr. Young was accompanied by his fiancée and both were attired in the dress of the people with whom they will work when they return to China this fall.

The forenoon session was given over almost wholly to report of departments and the woman's work in the churches. Singing was led by Mrs. T. R. Traxick of this city, with Mrs. Drew Copeland at the piano. The special music consisted of violin solos, "Holy City" and "Face to Face," played by Miss Edythe Casey. Mrs. M. S. Hansen of Alhambra, sang very splendidly two solos, "Open the Gates of the Temple" and "Abide With Me." Mrs. Joseph Holman also charmed her hearers when she sang "Teach Me to Pray" and "The Man of Galilee." Miss Mary A. Greene for the past five years the state secretary-director, gave her valedictory and introduced her successor Mrs. W. G. Burgess of Hollywood.

A pageant "Golden Opportunity" given by Whittier's members, closed the program. A short business session followed and the following were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. James Robertson, Downey; first vice president, Mrs. H. J. Wilson, Anaheim; second vice president, Mrs. A. Cameron, Huntington Beach; secretary, Miss Gertrude Minor, Santa Ana; treasurer, Mrs. F. W. Taylor, La Habra; historian, Mrs. W. W. Crozier, Newport Beach.

M. E. Missionary. The Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church enjoyed a unique meeting last Wednesday afternoon. While the members were holding their meeting in the church parlors, the "Mothers' Jewels" (juvenile members of the society) were having games on the playground and refreshments down stairs. Mrs. W. E. Snow, president, was absent and Mrs. John Clarkson, vice president, opened the meeting with a hymn and prayer. The business meeting following was very brief. Mrs. Dana Smith asked that a date be set for the opening of the mite boxes. The next regular meeting was chosen. Mrs. C. W. Burns presented the needs of the hospital which the society supports in Los Angeles. She mentioned the fact that she was on the committee that bought the property on Hope street, which was used for the first hospital, also told us that four-fifths of the hospitals in the U. S. are denominational.

Following the business session Mrs. Brandenburg led the devotional period. She chose a few verses from the 12th chapter of Romans and emphasized the beauty of ministry in its widest sense.

Mrs. A. D. McGarraugh had the difficult task of condensing a chapter of "Pearl Rivers," the study book. Miss Jessie Millar followed with an equally interesting resume of a work with which Californians have some first-hand information: work with the Mexicans. When she had finished the "Jewels" trooped in and sang "Precious Jewels," then were seated while Mrs. Will Betts sold about the work supported by their 10 cents dues, and the contents of their mite boxes.

Mrs. R. I. Matthews, recording secretary, closed the meeting by giving a report of the party and expressing the hope of the society that some one present might feel called to take up the "Mothers' Jewel" work for another year.

First Presbyterian Aid. A delightful afternoon was offered recently to the members of the northwest section of the Aid society of the First Presbyterian church, when Mrs. C. F. Smith graciously opened her home at 1717 North Broadway for the monthly meeting of the society.

Mrs. H. N. Brothers, leader, conducted the usual business session at which 53 were present. The members generously responded to the request from Miss Grace Rowley for gifts to be taken to the girls in the Chinese mission.

During the social hour which followed, Miss Rose Marie Smith, daughter of the home, and Miss Evelyn Richards, talented young musicians, gave several splendid numbers on piano and violin. The hostess committee, Miss Preble Drake, Mrs. C. F. Smith, Mrs. Alex. Brownridge, Mrs. C. W. Bowlers, Mrs. C. S. Cotant, Mrs. G. Grant, Mrs. J. H. Forgy and Mrs. H. N. Brothers, served ice cream and wafers.

Young Girls Entertain Group of Friends At Bridge

by Miss Kate Benton and Miss Louise Stephenson at the Benton home, 1594 Bush street.

Three tables were in readiness for bridge which formed the afternoon's diversion. The tally cards were cleverly fashioned in fan form, each with a pretty girl as added adornment. When scores were tallied at the close of the afternoon, it was found that Miss Frances Hallman was high with the Miss Edith Twist second. Each received an attractive reward.

The two young hostesses were assisted by Mrs. W. L. H. Benton and Miss Jean Battersby in serving refreshments for which the tables were adorned with pretty linens and centered with silver compotes holding nuts and sweetmeats.

Enjoying the happy afternoon were the two hostesses, Miss Stephanie and Miss Benton, and the Misses Edith Twist, Louane Leech, Frances Hallman, Elaine Smith, Louise Van Dien, Louisa Hampton, Della Hampton, Betty Hoy, Dorothy Clarkson and Dorothy Cartwright.

Exchangeites Hold First Park Party

Exchange club members enjoyed their first park party and dance of the season late last week, at Orange county park, where they were joined by enthusiastic fellow club members of Long Beach for the merry event.

Planned by Stanley Clem, the steak dinner which opened the evening's festivities, was highly successful. Dancing followed to the music of a five-piece orchestra. The presence of some 70 guests added greatly to the pleasure of the evening. The local club had expected about 40 Long Beach Exchangeites and their wives but, at noon, a telephone call revealed that 50 more were coming, so it took some rapid work on the part of Mr. Clem and his committee to arrange dinner for the increased crowd.

Mothers-Daughters Meet for Dinner

The men of the Congregational church complimented mothers and daughters Friday evening by being unseen hosts at a banquet given at the church.

Mrs. Edith Thatcher was toast-mistress and carried out her duties in a most charming manner. Miss Ole Blais pleased her audience with a song which was followed by an appropriate violin solo by Miss Peggy Warburton, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Warburton, Miss Nancy Elder, secretary of the Y. W.C.A. made a short address which proved very interesting to the assembled guests.

A pageant, "The Spirit of Motherhood," directed by Miss L. L. Beeman was given.

Jolly Dozen

Mrs. William Schonberg entertained members of the Jolly Dozen club Thursday at her home, 1092 North Broadway. The rooms were adorned with a profusion of marigolds and other spring flowers.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Schonberg were Mesdames John Rudolph, J. Markel, Smith, George Young, Dryer Groty, Charles Borchard and the Misses Barbara, Bertha and Armella Klatt. Dutch whist was played and trophies consisting of dainty handkerchiefs were awarded to Mrs. George Young, Mrs. Rudolph and Miss Armella Klatt, who received the guest prize.

Punch was served during the afternoon. The next meeting of the club will take place at the home of Mrs. C. W. Schmiedeburg, 1202 North Van Ness avenue.

Belle Bennett Night Is Pleasant Event At Parkridge

hills and valley of Santa Ana canyon, for the dinner dance planned to honor the famous star of "Stella Dallas."

Sparkling with lights and adorned with flowers, the clubhouse was a brilliant setting for the beautiful evening gowns worn by the woman guests and the lovely frocks and vivid Spanish shawls of the Hollywood group. The diningroom with its lacquer red fittings, was made a May Day scene, each small table centered with a tall Maypole and its radiating ribbons, while the long tables for large parties, bore a succession of Maypoles. Place cards offered a portrait of Miss Bennett on a heart-shaped card.

In the ballroom, a five-piece orchestra dispensed dance music, and in the alcove, punch bowls offered an unending supply of iced punch to the dancers. The great porch with its cozy Gloucester hammocks, offered a cool retreat between dances, and an unexampled view of dark hills and the twinkling lights of the village and surrounding country.

Late in the evening the distinguished visitors presented an impromptu program directed by Mr. Upright of Hollywood. Miss Bennett gave the famous scene from "Stella Dallas" when Stella renounces her husband and baby Lollie to Mrs. Morrison. Her acting was superb, and a long stage experience told in the vocal inflections which added so greatly to her acting. As "Stella Dallas," her voice was harsh, flat and uncultivated, whereas in the role of "Mrs. Morrison" it was suave, musical and cultured. Those who had seen the famous picture, were happy at the opportunity to see the star in person, and to those who had not yet seen it, the foretaste served to whet their appetites for an early enjoyment of the film.

Receiving as a special welcome was did Miss Bennett, Vera Gordon, famous "Mother" in the unforgettable "Humoresque," was introduced. With the spontaneous good humor and kindness of her race, she talked informally to the guests, telling several amusing anecdotes.

Ian Keith who has played in a number of New York successes, gave an exceedingly interesting Shakespeare reading, choosing the famous "All the world's a stage" and giving it with marked expression hinting at a tremendous reserve of dramatic strength.

It was with much interest that the guests greeted Mr. Upright's introduction of his mother, Mrs. Blanche Upright, too youthful and vivacious to be the mother of a grown son, and the author of the well-known "Valley of Contentment" and other books. Mr. Upright proved to have the ability to tell a tale verbally as well as in book form, as did Robert Vignola, famous director of Mae Murray, Marian Davies and others. Vignola was a witty speaker and unconsciously acted his stories as he related them.

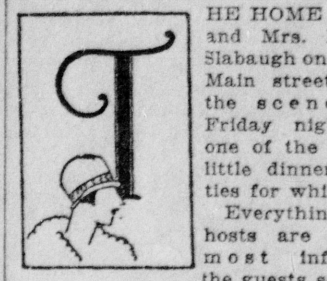

Ella Hall, diminutive blonde motion picture celebrity, Fred Windemere, Miss Bennett's husband, R. S. Ferguson, pianist and several other interesting Hollywood folk were introduced, as was a clever young girl who will play Miss Bennett's sister in her next film, and who gave a spirited rendition of the Charleston.

Motoring up from this city were Mr. and Mrs. Mason Yould, Mrs. Eleanor Huff, Horace Pine, D. Eymann Huff, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Godfrey. In Mr. Huff's party were also Mr. and Mrs. John B. Dodge and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Williams of Walnut Park.

Dr. and Mrs. Slabaugh Entertain Friends At Dinner Party

THE HOME of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh on North Main street, was the scene last Friday night, of one of the merry little dinner parties for which the hosts are noted. Most informal, the guests seeking their places at the table, amidst the gay chat of old friends. The table was in lavender, white and yellow, and was illuminated by tall yellow candles adorned with lavender tulle bows. Places were arranged for the hosts, Dr. and Mrs. Slabaugh and for Mr. and Mrs. Roy Russell, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Barr and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Moulton. The dinner was served by course, by Miss Helen Slabaugh and her young friend, Miss Katherine Barr.

In the after-dinner interval, the guests gathered in the spacious drawingroom to chat of "ships and shoes and sealing-wax," perhaps, but principally of "ships," since several in the group are anticipating interesting summer trips and voyages, and outlined their plans.

Long Beach Club Has Annual Breakfast Here

Activities of the Friday Morning Discussion club of Long Beach were temporarily transferred to this city Friday when St. Ann's Inn was made the setting for the annual breakfast which the club enjoys as one of its pleasant social phases.

Breakfast tables were grouped around a tall Maypole whose bright ribbons radiated to the different tables, where they ended in bowls of pink sweet peas. A combination of pink and blue tints marked various table appointments of place cards and other dainty effects. Mrs. R. G. Henderson, president and Mrs. Edwin Taylor, secretary were in charge of arrangements. The annual event is to honor the club's founder, Mrs. Emma Greenleaf.

Miss Anna Baudenhausen was introduced as principal speaker on "Former Breakfasts" after which other toasts were given by Miss Charlotte Closser, "The Founder," Mrs. S. L. Wilder, "New Members," and Mrs. Leonore Novenger, "Famous Women Who Have Been Members." Mrs. Thomas Spurgeon gave an original poem.

How to make Strawberry Jam

Keep the color and flavor of the fresh berries

Your jam will taste enough like fresh berries to use in strawberry shortcake if you make it this new, easy, short-bill way with Certo. Save the following recipe to use for your first batch of strawberry jam.

Cut in halves lengthwise with stainless knife about 2 quarts of small or medium-sized fully ripe berries. After halving, weigh out 1 lbs. berries, or measure 4 1/2 level cups of berries, packing loosely into the cup until juice and fruit come to the top of the cup. Add 7 level cups (3 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in 1/4 cup Certo. Skim and stir repeatedly for just 5 minutes after taking from fire, to cool slightly. Pour quickly and cover hot jam at once with hot melted paraffin.

The short boiling time, possible only with Certo, prevents the loss of delicate flavor and the darkening in color which used to occur during the old long boil. It also gives you a larger amount of jam, since you save the large quantity of juice which used to be lost.

Certo is a pure fruit product—the jellying substance of fruit refined and bottled. A book of simple recipes comes with each bottle.

Your grocer carries Certo, or you trial half-size bottle which will make from 4 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending upon the recipe used. Address Douglas-Pectin Corporation, 1555 Granite Building, Rochester, N. Y.—Adv.

for foods without flavor

THE art of making meals attractive is in serving flavorful foods.

In breakfast oats, see that you get the Quaker brand. The difference in flavor is amazing.

Some 50 years were spent perfecting Quaker flavor. No other oats offers it to you. Yet the price you pay is the same.

Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. And that makes laxatives less often needed. Protein, carbohydrates and vitamins and "bulk" are thus combined in making Quaker Oats an excellently balanced ration.

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. That's faster than plain toast. Makes the richest breakfast now the quickest.

Three Santa Ana students were entered in the state contest. They were Miss Crawford, Miss Corinne Nelson and Miss Sherill Spurgeon. This team won first place in the county contest and first in the Southern California contest, earlier this year.

Santa Ana's showing in the state contest is credited by the typing teachers, Miss Lapum and Mrs. Pearl Norsee Lapum, to the introduction of a new system of typing this year.

FEDERATION OF YOUTH FORMED AT MEETING IN NEW YORK CITY

Program of Body Interesting as Result of Probe Of S. A. Peace Movement

ABOLITION OF WAR TRAINING IS URGED

Organization Includes As Members Liberals, Conservatives and Radicals

Pending release and publication of the findings of two Santa Ana committees, one appointed by the American Legion and the other by the Santa Ana Ministerial union, to investigate the origin and aims of the so-called "Fellowship of Youth for Peace" movement, the activities of which in the public schools were prohibited by the board of education, the account of a meeting, held Saturday, May 1, in New York City, is of more than ordinary interest to Santa Ana persons.

According to New York exchanges, the Federation of Youth movement was organized by 40 delegates from a dozen or more young people's societies in the New York district, at a conference held in the assembly room adjoining the Community church.

Program is Outlined

J. R. Hockett, delegate from the Unitarian Young People, outlined the program of the organization, which, he said, would include liberals, conservatives and radicals and various races and creeds. Militarism, industrialism, racial discrimination and crime are among the chief questions for discussion, Hockett said, according to the press accounts of the meeting.

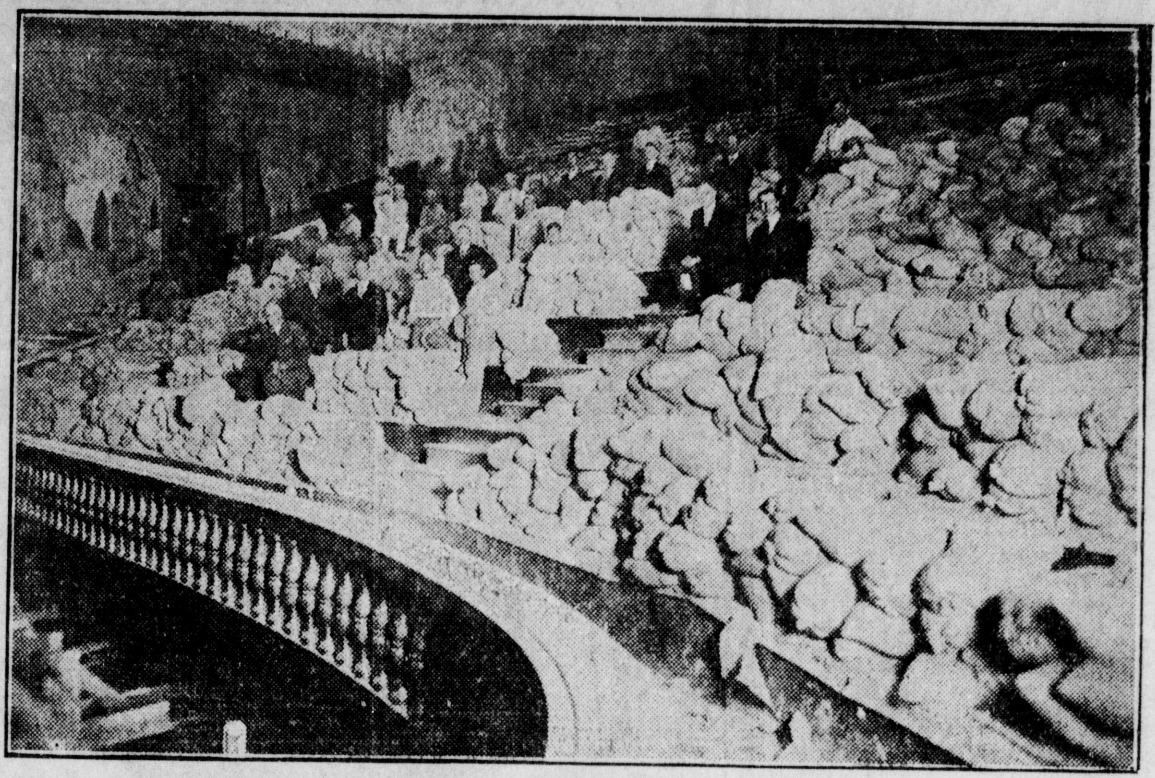

Hockett is quoted as follows: "Heretofore youth has been indifferent to the great world problems, civic duty and responsibility and has been plunged headlong into life without a true basis for determining cause and effect. Youth always has fought the battles of the world because no united effort from the ranks of youth stood opposed to fighting. There would be no war if young men would once and for all say that they would not fight the battles of their country. It is, therefore, for us, the youth of our city and of our country, to determine the true basis of patriotism and life relationships."

Object to Training

All the speakers advocated the abolition of compulsory military training, some on ethical grounds and others basing their objections on economic considerations. Among the speakers were Rennie Smith, British M. P., who is directing secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, and Alexander Lifshitz, delegate from the Social Problems club, city college.

Among the youth organizations represented at the meeting were

HIGH CLASS ENTERTAINMENT AND BOND ISSUE DISCUSSION TO FEATURE J. C. C. SESSION

A full and frank discussion of the respective aspects of the Santa Ana bond election, May 26, will be held at the meeting of the junior division of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, to be held tonight, beginning at 6:30, in Ketter's cafe.

Each of the four propositions to be voted upon, bonds for extension of the joint outfall sewer, creation of a public fund for advertising the city, provision for the expenses of the Santa Ana municipal band and the purchase of park sites and equipment will be taken up by a speaker well versed in civic needs, Mason Yould, president of the junior division, said. Following each talk, the members will be privileged to ask questions.

The importance of the bond proposal discussion and the excellence of entertainment program are expected to attract a capacity crowd to the gold room of the cafe. The entertainment program will begin shortly after the salute to the flag and those late stragglers, who appear after the soup course, may miss some of the vaudeville, it was said.

The program will include special jazz orchestra numbers by the California Playboys, under the leadership of Lester Schroeder; laugh-making tactics by Georgia Harris and Miss Barbara Luddy, comedians from the Fox Film company; the latest dance creations by Eddie Viera and Doris Dysart, Santa Ana exponents of the Charleston and the St. Louis, and "Duke" Atteberry and "Count" Pagano, radio favorites from station KNX. No body knows just what the "Duke" and the "Count" will do or say, but their stunts and sayings always are decidedly mirth provoking.

MOST TEACHERS IN COUNTY ARE TO KEEP JOBS

Few Changes Indicated in Corps of Instructors for Next Year, Says Mitchell

There will be but few changes in the teaching force in the public schools of the county for the coming school year, registering one of the smallest turnovers known in many years, according to R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools.

The superintendent's statement covers all high school and grammar school districts in the county except the Santa Ana city school district, which is under the exclusive control of its own board of education.

Opposes Frequent Changes

Superintendent Mitchell expressed himself as well pleased with the general policy adopted by trustees to retain experienced and efficient instructors in the schools and to avoid changes except when the best interests of the pupils demand same.

The constant changing of teachers from one year to another not only results in dissatisfaction among the instructors, but works a distinct handicap on the pupils, he remarked, voicing his disapproval of large turnovers.

"In teaching as in any other line of work, experience and familiarity with local conditions are important assets," he continued.

Year to Learn Conditions

"It takes a new teacher several months before she has become familiar with the peculiar traits of the children in her class or classes, and frequently it takes her a whole year before she acquires a good working knowledge of home conditions and other circumstances that might affect a child in his work in school."

He added that the best results are recorded in schools where there are few changes in the teaching force and which, when found necessary, are made with the sole object of benefiting the pupils.

Bond Election Information

This is one of a series of articles to be published in The Register designed to give voters of Santa Ana a full and complete information concerning each of the four propositions that are to appear on the ballot May 26. Anyone who sends questions to The Register having to do directly with any of the matters at issue will have the questions printed under this heading, together with an answer from someone in a position to have authoritative information.

PROPOSED TAX LEVY FOR CITY PUBLICITY EXPLAINED

What is the publicity fund which voters of Santa Ana will be asked to create by their approval of a 6-cent levy on every $100 valuation at the election to be held May 26?

Why does the city need such a fund?

How will the money be spent?

How much money is being spent for that purpose now?

If the voters approve the publicity fund tax proposal will the fund fluctuate from year to year?

Will the publicity fund include money for the Santa Ana municipal band?

For the purpose of securing exact information concerning the publicity fund levy in the special bond election to be held May 26, the above questions and others were asked by a Register reporter of F. L. Purinton, president of the city board of trustees, familiarly known as the city council, and Ed. Vegely, city clerk.

What is the publicity fund?

It was explained by these men, that the publicity fund is created by special assessment of one cent on each $100 valuation by vote of the people in 1913. Under the operation of that plan, $1710.25 was raised last year for the purposes of the fund. It is to be expended to advertise Santa Ana, a good place in which to live and to locate a business. If the 6-cent tax levy for such a fund carries, $10,261 will be provided for it this year.

Why does the city need such a fund?

Even though nature has very generously endowed Santa Ana with a climate and natural conditions of an extraordinary quality, this city is but one in the entire Southland blessed with advantages of a somewhat similar nature and in the race for development those cities which forgo to the front in exploiting these advantages are the cities which benefit the most. If Santa Ana's municipal horn is not tooted by its own citizens, the citizens of other towns most certainly will not toot it.

How will the money be spent?

For the most part, the money will be turned over to the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, which has two divisions, senior and junior. It will be the duty of the chamber of commerce to account to the city board just how every penny of the fund is spent. Many requests for money made by local organizations to the city board under the present plan will be referred to the chamber of commerce, with recommendations of the city council as to the proper action. The city council will determine just how much of the money is to be allotted to the chamber organization and just how much is to remain within the direct control of the city board.

Under the term "publicity" will be included financial assistance to organizations holding conventions in Santa Ana; to organizations sending delegations to outside gatherings, at which time and places definite benefits to the city will accrue through proper representation; magazine and newspaper articles for the purpose of heralding the attractions of Santa Ana over the entire nation; the preparation of booster booklets for general distribution, etc.

How much money is being spent for these purposes now?

Under the plan approved by the voters of Santa Ana in 1913, 1 cent on each $100 valuation is levied in taxes for this purpose, which last year netted $1710.25. This fund has proved to be entirely inadequate for the purposes it was intended when Santa Ana was a much smaller city. The city of Long Beach expends $150,000 alone for the maintenance of a municipal band. Other cities of the Southland spend a great deal more money for such a purpose than even would be raised under the levy proposed by the city board.

Will the publicity fund include money for the Santa Ana Municipal band?

The publicity fund, as created, will not include money for the expenses of the Santa Ana Municipal band. The expenses of the band will be taken care of by a separate levy of the same amount as that proposed for the publicity and advertising fund. The band fund and the publicity fund would each receive $1 on the basis of the present valuation.

"There is a crying need for a band and Santa Ana has reached the stage in its development where the matter cannot be allowed to drag along on the basis of the 1-cent levy," said Mr. Purinton. "There are few persons today who do not have it pays to advertise. A close check is to be kept on the administration of this money and reckless expenditures for worthless projects will not be allowed. The citizens of the town themselves will be the judges as to whether the fund is properly drawn upon."

It was pointed out by the mayor that the fund would be available for sending the band to various important displays in the Southland, where attendance of the musical organization will give the city good publicity and at the same time offer neighborly co-operation in big events in which the Southland is interested.

When voted, the tax levies remain until they are changed by vote of the taxpayers. However, the tax for each levy, if voted, will be established as the limit to which the council may go in establishing the tax levy each year. It is within the power of the council to establish each year any rate it may deem necessary up to 6 cents for each fund.

If the 12-cent rate provided for the two funds is approved, the city will have authorized the council to levy a total of 15 cents on the $100 assessed valuation for music, parks, and publicity, this being the limit established by state law.

SUPERSTITIONS OF HAWAIIANS ON MAUNA LOA ERUPTION TOLD

Madam Pele, Volcano Goddess, Ignores Repeated Supplications by Natives

WREAKS VENGEANCE UPON VILLAGE FOLK

Destruction by Hot Lava Laid to Rage of Venerable Woman of Myths

One of the most interesting descriptions of the eruption of Mauna Loa and the subsequent flow of lava to the Pacific is contained in a letter received by the Register from Roch Bradshaw, son of Mrs. Louise H. Bradshaw, of Orange, Roch, who worked one summer in the editorial rooms of the Register, is now located in Hawaii. He writes as follows:

"Despite the unshakable faith of the Hawaiians that she would not destroy their homes, Madam Pele, volcano goddess of Hawaii, has ignored their repeated prayers and supplications, calling forth a monster lava flow which descended in a path of fire down the slope of Mauna Loa to the Pacific, completely obliterating the little fishing village of Hoopuloa, whose inhabitants, crushed by the fear that they had offended the all-powerful goddess, escaped only at the last moment when they saw their homes being submerged under a wall of red-hot lava."

Village Wiped Out

"Early on Sunday morning, April 18, the primitive settlement of Hoopuloa disappeared forever. The last tall coconut palm on the beach nodded slowly and toppled over, the lava entered the ocean and a terrific hissing, and a dense cloud of white steam arose to hide the scene of destruction."

"On the Tuesday before the eruption, Pele herself is said to have been seen on the rocky, isolated shore of the village. A fisherman was just landing his canoe. The aged goddess appeared before him and requested the gift of a fish. It is a custom among Hawaiian fishermen to give a fish to anyone who helps in beaching their canoes. But the venerable woman offered no assistance. Her untreaty met with a refusal. She vanished as mysteriously as she had come. Then the fisherman knew he had been talking to Pele."

Outlet for Wrath

"If her revenge was slow in coming, it was none the less sure. For early on the following Sunday, a wall of red-hot rock descended ominously toward the village. All night long the Hawaiians prayed incessantly for mercy. But Pele's wrath was not to be appeased. Not even the prized kalua pig, roasted, wrapped in cloth and flung toward the advancing lava, could soften her heart. She ignored the sacrifice of a young calf."

"Throughout the night, lighted lanterns moved between the village and the edge of the lava, their owners hopefully bearing gifts to the offended goddess. As a last resort, the villagers collected all their money, $9 in cash, and threw it to Pele."

"Toward morning, their homes began to burn. Not until then, at the order of the county police, did the natives leave. From the whole hamlet only the galvanized iron roof of one of the houses was salvaged before the exodus."

"The natives are completely mystified. For never before, they say,

Santa Anans Are Guests at "Peace Dinner" Tonight

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Baumgartner went to Riverside today, where they will be the guests over night of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Miller of the Glenwood Mission Inn. This evening they will participate in a banquet tendered by Mr. and Mrs. Miller to a distinguished company of personal friends for the promotion of international friendship.

Some time ago, the people of Riverside erected a memorial on Mount Rubidoux dedicated to International Peace. At least that is the way Mr. Miller puts it. But in fact the memorial was designed to honor Mr. Miller and commemorate his services in the cause of world-wide friendship and good will.

The dinner this evening is intended to be an expression of Mr. Miller's appreciation of this honor and of the many fine courtesies he and Mrs. Miller received during a recent trip to the Orient.

Dr. R. B. Von Klein Smid, Bishop Cantwell, the Japanese consul and some members of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and of the Southern California Editorial association will be present with their wives, and John Willis Baer and Dr. Robert A. Millikan will be among the speakers.

EASTERN MAN DIES AT ST. ANN'S INN

Fred Ferris, 75, a retired merchant, of Elmira, N. Y., who had been touring Southern California, died Saturday afternoon at St. Ann's Inn, following a long illness. Mr. Ferris, accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Ida F. Ferris, arrived here several weeks ago to visit his brother, Mott Ferris, 114 South Broadway, becoming ill while here, he started back to Elmira, but on arriving in Albuquerque, N. M., was obliged to return here for rest. Smith and Tuthill took charge of the body, which will be sent east tomorrow.

OVER 1000 PRESENT AT FARMERS' PICNIC

More than 1000 farmers and their wives and families gathered at Orange County park Saturday to attend the sixth annual farm bureau picnic. The day's festivities began with a basket lunch at noon. A 24-piece orchestra from Tustin high school provided music.

Leon O. Whitsett, member of the state railroad commission, who had been announced as the speaker of the day, sent his regrets in the form of a telegram, which stated that he was confined to his bed with influenza. In the absence of any other program, A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the farm bureau, introduced the game of "clues," which had been prepared with the assistance of County Librarian Margaret Livingston. Nearly 40 contestants entered the game, while others in the crowd acted as informants. The game laid a cross-course course over the park, each station being marked by a "clue." The reward offered the first couple to successfully discover the course was awarded by Leo Hartfield, jeweler, of Santa Ana. The woman's prize was a silver vanity case while the men's prize was a leather bill fold and key book. These prizes were claimed by Miss Cleora Fine and Mrs. Margaret Meize.

During the afternoon, two games of baseball and a horseshoe pitching contest were in progress.

The farm bureau, according to Stanley, feels indebted to the Holly Sugar company for sweetest, Ralits Sanitary Dairy for cream; the Tustin high school orchestra for music; Leo Hartfield, jeweler, for prizes; Smart and Final company, for coffee; the county librarian for "clues," and to the park officials for their courteous treatment.

Woman Turns On Light and Foils Attempted Theft

A woman in the house suddenly turning on an electric light probably is the reason why the home of F. C. Kelton, 314 East Camille street, was not robbed Saturday night, according to a police report.

A burglar, who already had gained entrance to the back porch, was attempting to enter the rear door with a pass key when the light was turned on.

Officers investigated, searching the entire neighborhood, but no trace of the man was found.

WEST END THEATER

A comedy opened at the West End theater last evening. And the capacity house which greeted it, seemed to think "Let's Get Married" was a real picture.

Richard Dix, the reigning star in the new farce, is ably assisted by his leading lady, Lois Wilson. The cast includes "Gunboat" Smith, Edna May Oliver and Joseph Kilgour, with credit for fire direction being given Gregory La Cava. The screen play was written by J. Clarkson Miller from Du Souchet's stage success, "The Man from Mexico."

These would seem to be the elements which one needs when mixing a comedy cocktail. First, get a good story; secure a handsome star; couple him with a beautiful leading lady; sprinkle with romance; throw in dash, spice, adventure, fun and laughs; then shake well and you have—"Let's Get Married."

Certainly, so far as action is concerned, no Dix picture has ever exceeded this one. You'll roar when, at his wedding, Richard catches sight of an enemy, and ducks out while everyone is bowed in prayer. After leading the detective a merry chase, he manages to get back to his fiancée, without anyone being the wiser. Then, when the arm of the law again approaches, this time accompanied by policemen, Dix snatches his astonished bride from the hands of the preacher, and leaps out of the window to the street. There, without the loss of a minute, they jump into his little electric coupe, and start off; only to be steal a fortune in gems and while for a time it would seem that Marie Duquesne, the character portrayed by Miss Dean, with in league with the robbers, the finale reveals a contrary state of affairs. At any rate, the picture is filled with thrills that are warranted to hold the interest of the most blasé movie fan.

John Bowers plays opposite the star and heads an adequate supporting cast of players. Among these are Gustave Von Seyffertitz, Cissy Fitzgerald, Arthur Hoyt, William Humphrey, Clarence Burton and Erwin Connolly.

Experts to Talk
At Farm Center

George H. Hecke, director of the state department of agriculture, and James Mills, chairman of the governor's agricultural advisory committee, will be the speakers at the Villa Park-Olive farm center meeting, in Villa Park hall, Wednesday night of this week. Mills, with Peter J. Shields, of Sacramento; A. C. Hardison, of Santa Paula, and E. Houghton, of Strathmore, also members of the governor's committee, will confer with the directors of the farm bureau Wednesday afternoon, at which time they will discuss agricultural questions.

TEMPLE THEATER

Tonight is the night of nights at the Temple theater where the Connell Players are presenting one of the finest plays through the ages—here—"Cinderella O'Reilly." It is an Irish story with one of the most appealing characters you have ever met. The lass is portrayed by Miss Fay Life and it is the outstanding part of her engagement with the Connell Players.

Added to this show comes Billy Murray with his super "country store" with a capital prize of a standard make five-tube radio set, also the usual 40-odd gifts. Connell expects to be sold out with this great combination early so his advice is to come early and avoid the rush.

WEST COAST-WALKER

A "hand picked" cast, in which every player was chosen after minute consideration as the ideal for the particular role, both as to "type" and acting ability, surround Marion Davies in her latest production, "Beverly of Graustark," now showing at the West Coast-Walker.

This extreme care in choosing the cast was adopted in order to present the picture in as nearly an accord with the spirit of George Barr McCutcheon's famous novel as possible. "Does he fit the author's idea of the role?" was the question Sidney Franklin, directing the picture, asked himself as each character was considered.

The new picture shows Miss Davies in one of the most remarkable roles ever attempted, as besides playing the heroine she masquerades so perfectly as a prince that she is said to be the counterpart of the Prince of Wales. Antonio Moreno plays the leading male role as "Danton," the royal detective, and Creighton Hale, well known leading man of the screen, plays Prince Oscar. Roy D'Arcy, famous Crown Prince of "The Merry Widow," plays Marlanx, pretender to a throne, and Paulette Goddard, Max Barwyn, Albert Gran, Charles Clary and other notables appear.

The story is a romantic tale of European court intrigue.

KOLB AND DILL

Kolb and Dill, polished comedians, whose names connote unrestrained laughter on recollection of some of their hilarious successes of former years, come to the Yost theater Thursday night, appearing in "Pair O' Fools," a new musical comedy with book by John Emerson and Anita Loos and music by Byron Gay.

In addition to a cast embracing several names decidedly new to theater-goers on the Pacific Coast, the California "Sweet Sixteen" dancing girls and the Kolb and Dill orchestra will form important parts of the production.

"Pair O' Fools" has a laugh-punctuating plot which lands Kolb, as Andy Simmons, a big lumber man, and Dill, as Rudy Valentine, some more lumber man, in an almost inextricable tangle of troubles.

YOST THEATER

Bright, vivacious Priscilla Dean scored another big hit with local screen fans when "The Danger Girl," her latest star picture was presented at the Yost theater yesterday. Miss Dean, in this delightful mystery photoplay, is first seen as a bride who travels over house-tops at night and finds refuge in the apartment of two bachelor brothers, one of whom, of course, falls in love with her.

From the very start, the action proceeds rapidly to a sensational finish. The story deals with the plotting of a band of thieves to has the goddess allowed the lava to destroy a home. The district is full of stories, many of them true, telling how, at the last moment, she has turned aside a flow, saving a house apparently doomed to ruin.

ERUPTION TOLD

Faith With People Broken

"But the fabled spirit of Kilaua has seemingly broken faith with her people. Before the present flow had reached the government road encircling the island, she had allowed it to consume six houses on the Honomolino cattle ranch.

"On reaching the road, it proceeded relentlessly toward a two-story Hawaiian house. Within its walls an old native woman, firm in her faith, scarcely hearing the entreaties of the excited spectators, continued to pray, offering repeated sacrifices.

"Then Pele's heart softened. The lava, disregarding what seemed to be its natural course, turned aside. Her prayers apparently answered, the old lady said at length: "Pele will not take my house."

"But a few hours later, after devouring a diminutive church whose bell wildly tolled its own death knell, the mass of molten rock, piling up, tumbling over itself, again moved threateningly toward the house. Still trusting to Pele's benevolence, the old Hawaiian lady stood her ground.

Rock Crushes Dwelling

"A huge rock detached itself from the advancing wall and hurled itself through the dwelling, which collapsed, burst into flames, and then disappeared beneath the moving mountain, only a moment after the spectators had disturbed the protesting woman's prayers and removed her forcibly from the house.

"Pele's failure to answer their players has not shaken the faith of this primitive people. The devout old woman, who so narrowly escaped death, insists that her home would not have been destroyed had it not been that the outsiders interfered with her prayers and broke the charm. Superstition colors the whole attitude of these people toward the recent flow. Many of them hung lanterns on their homes to ward off the impending danger. One man insisted that his house would have been spared if he had had a pig to sacrifice to the volcano goddess.

"One of the oldest features of the disaster is the fact that Hawaiians throughout the district of Kona, where the flow appeared, confidently predicted its appearance over a month before it arrived. At that time, there was not a sign of activity at any point.

Mysterious Old Woman

"A wrinkled old Hawaiian woman dressed in tapa cloth appeared repeatedly throughout the countryside. Sometimes a car would stop along the road to offer her a ride. Or she would appear at some Hawaiian home and ask for food or tobacco. Always, as the stories say, she would mysteriously disappear, before the very eyes of those who served her.

Obviously this could be none other than Pele; and her appearance was regarded as a sure sign of an impending lava flow. The lava came, wiping out an entire village, destroying a thousand acres of grazing land, scorching a black scar across the side of Mauna Loa which will forever remind the simple Hawaiians of Pele's terrible vengeance.

"The 30 refugees of Hoopuloa have found temporary homes at Miloli, a nearby hamlet, and at Papaa, a small community several miles up the mountain.

"The lava, while it did not touch Miloli, has almost completely cut it off from communication with the outside world. Its only outlet passed through Hoopuloa and up the mountain to the government road. At present all provisions arrive on outrigger canoes. Trucks come down the road as far as the lava flow. From there the Hawaiians pack their goods to the ocean, and take them on the last leg of the journey by water.

Relief for Destitute

"The county of Hawaii has been supplying the destitute families with food since the disaster, while business houses and friends have donated liberally. The Kona Civic club, composed of the leading men of Kona, has appointed a committee to investigate the situation with a view to helping in its relief.

"The recent eruption, which began on April 10, is located in South Kona on the west side of the island of Hawaii. It reached the government road on April 16 at 12:21 in the afternoon, entering the ocean two days later.

"It is reported that the lava has formed a lake near its source at the 6000-foot elevation. Two new columns of advancing lava, one on either side of the original one, are moving very slowly down the mountain. All three originated on the side of Mauna Loa, near the source of the Alikia flow of 1919."

AUSTRALIAN IN CITY TO STUDY
FRUIT INDUSTRY

Prominent among guests at St. Ann's Inn is C. H. Katekar, prominent business man and the leading fruit grower of Renmark, South Australia, who is here to inquire into the various aspects of the fresh and dried fruit industry in California.

In addition to holding important positions in various industrial enterprises and banking concerns, Katekar is chairman of the Renmark Irrigation Trust company and the Renmark branch of the Murray Citrus Growers' association; president of Renmark Agricultural society; member of the Renmark Fruit Growers' Co-operative board, and other organizations connected with the fruit industry.

Has Government Commission. He carries with him an honorary commission from the Australian government to facilitate any investigations he considers desirable in the interests of the citrus industry in Australia.

Speaking to a Register representative, the visitor said that the Murray Citrus Growers' Co-operative association, corresponding to the California Fruit Growers' exchange, is particularly interested in his visit to Southern California, which throughout the world is recognized as the home of the citrus industry.

While here, the Australian fruit man will compare local conditions with those obtaining in Australia. In addition to observing the trees, their habits of growth, yield, cultural operations, marketing, packing and grading methods, he will secure data on the organization and operation of marketing associations, farm legislation and tariff measures.

"I have had 30 years' experience as a grower, not only of citrus, but of other fruit as well," Katekar remarked. "That experience should qualify me to make comparisons that might prove profitable to our own growers. California is not a competitor of Australia in citrus fruits. Our opposition comes from South America. All citrus growing countries, including those of the Old World, however, take their cut from Southern California," he explained. "Methods here are more up to date both in production and marketing," he added.

Touching upon the factors that affect competition, he called attention to the fact that South African growers employ Kaffir labor, pay less freight and are but half the distance from the London market, advantages which cannot be disregarded. Oranges may be sold in London for about the same amount its costs the Australian growers to send them to the British capital, without adding production charges.

Using but white labor is used by the Australian growers, which, because of the expense involved, makes it difficult to compete with citrus countries employing cheap labor.

While touring Southern California, Katekar will visit the government citrus experiment station, in Riverside, and the leading fruit exchanges in the Southland.

ATTORNEY MADE

DEED IN COURT ACTION

Charging that Attorney Arthur E. Koepsel failed to carry out a promise made to them, as their attorney, when they deeded their property in Orange to him, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Garber have filed suit in superior court against Koepsel, demanding reconveyance of the property.

The Garbers allege that in May, 1925, at a time when they were in financial difficulties and faced closure of a mortgage upon their property at East Chapman avenue, Orange, Koepsel suggested that they convey the property to him. His suggestion, they claim, was that he would be in position to get better credit than they and could secure a $7500 loan on the property, with which he would pay off the existing mortgage and other debts, aggregating, in all, $6000. He promised to turn over the surplus, $1500, to them, it is alleged.

Having confidence in him as their attorney, the Garbers agreed to this proposal and conveyed the property to Koepsel, they

RUTH'S COMEBACK

"Glad to see the Babe is going good."

Since the opening of the season I have heard that remark many times.

The speaker in each instance was some big league ball player, discussing the sensational showing of the Yankees and the fine all-around play of Ruth.

Babe Ruth is mighty popular with his fellow ball players, which after all is the true test. They are glad to see him come back so strong. The players realize the Ruthian craze brought in more money at the gate than any other thing in the history of baseball.

With Babe Ruth among the elite, baseball has its best drawing card working again. It means more money for everybody to have the Babe stepping out in front.

CHANNEL CONGESTION

It looks as if the English Channel would be quite cluttered this summer if all the prospective swimmers make good their threat to attempt the feat.

Once a fad for the masculine sex, trying to swim the channel has become a habit with the fair ones.

Already to of America's best women swimmers, Gertrude Ederle and Helen Wainwright, have announced their intention of trying to make the difficult swim.

Looks as if it would be necessary to delegate a number of aquatic traffic cops to handle the congestion that seems certain to result in the channel when warm weather really hits us.

DIFFICULT TASK

Playing a sun field is one of the most difficult jobs in baseball, for at least two reasons.

First, it calls for unusual judgment on every ball hit, also the ability to again pick up the flight of the ball after you have once lost it in the sun.

Second, it places a severe strain on the eyes and naturally handicaps a player in his batting. I have heard star players express the opinion that playing a sun field lessens a player's batting average at least 30 points.

I doubt if I ever saw a more finished sun-fighter than Harry Hooper, who rounded out his big league career last season as a member of the Chicago White Sox.

For 12 years he played the Breeding Takes Second In Mile In State Meet

Harold Breeding, probably the most remarkable distance runner ever developed at Santa Ana high school, turned in his suit today after a season of sensational performances. He completed his 1926 schedule by taking second in the mile in the state interscholastic meet at the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday. Los Angeles Poly won this meet, Hollywood was second and San Diego third.

Breeding, a junior, never ran a mile before this season. He won his first race in time less than 5 minutes and has never finished worse than second in any meet this year. He won every race but two—in the All-Southern and state meets—being bested only by Ferguson of Inglewood in these two classics. Breeding was timed in 4 minutes, 35 seconds in the All-Southern race.

difficult sun garden in Boston and followed this up with five seasons in the trying sun field at Comiskey park in Chicago.

"Every time I lose a fly ball in the sun, I think of Harry Hooper and what a marvel he was," remarked Harry Heilmann, champion batsman of the American league, to me recently.

"Like all of us I have seen Hooper miss fly bays, but I never saw him stagger around under one like most of us."

LACY CAPTURES PRESIDENT CUP GOLF TOURNEY

Mark Lacy yesterday won the Santa Ana Country club president's cup golf championship by defeating Hugh Shields, 5 and 4, in the final 18 hole match of the tourney. Lacy played with a low handicap, having to give two strokes to his opponent. His prize is the handsome trophy put up by John L. Wheeler, retiring president of the club.

In the class B matches, semi-final rounds were played. F. H. Schnitzer defeating Lest Carden, 2 and 1, while J. K. McDonald was winning over Walter S. Spicer, 3 and 2. Schnitzer and McDonald will meet in the finals for the class B cup next Saturday.

Z. B. West Jr. was the winner of the weekly sweepstakes Saturday, shooting an 85 with a 14 handicap, for a 71. Lew Wallace turned in a 92 with 16 handicap for a 76. Mark Lacy was third with an 88-10-78, tying with Ed Farnsworth who shot a 90-12-78.

Boston baseball fans are wondering how soon Arthur Vance, the crack pitcher of the Braves, will come out of the slump he has been in ever since the start of the training season.

YANKS FALTER, LOSE LEAD TO NATS IN A. L.

By PAUL WHITE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 10—With Washington once more in the van, the American league situation today looks more nearly normal, but the National league standing still defies logical explanation.

The Senators' pitchers functioning behind pitching which has been less steady than usual, assumed leadership in the junior circuit yesterday when they vanquished the Chicago White Sox while the Yanks were tossing away a game to the Detroit Tigers.

Washington will have far from a clinch in remaining at the top. Only half a game separates the leaders from the fourth place Chicagoans.

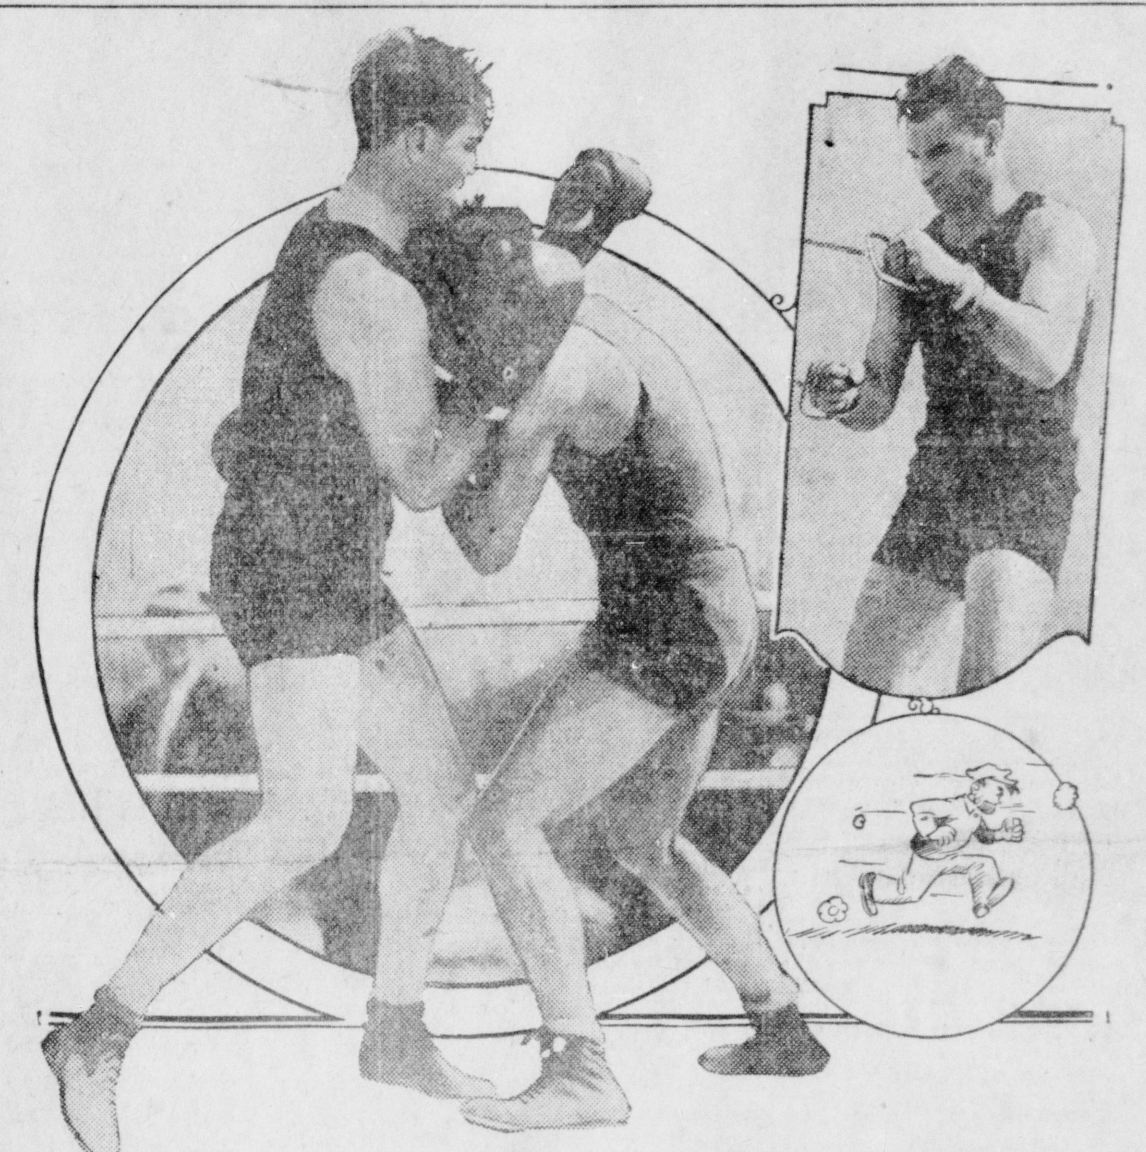

Chief American league interest lies in the Yanks, who have lost six of their last seven starts and whose April flare seems to have been a first class dud. Certainly if the Yanks are to remain in the first division they will have to get better pitching. In the last three games they have banded out 12 or more hits daily and still have lost two encounters.

Such a record means that their pitchers have been serving up extremely hittable slants. Except for Waite Hoyt and, to a lesser extent, Herb Pennock, none of the hurlers is at anywhere near his best form.

The Robins are still on top of the National league and although experts unanimously agree they have no business there, insist upon their intention of retaining the leadership for some time to come.

For some likewise inexplicable reason the Chicago Cubs are in second place and one of the first "crosshul" series of the year begins today when Brooklyn moves to the Cub lot to remain for four days of battling. The Cubs, having just beaten the Giants in three out of four games, are waiting in ambush.

BARNEY HODGES TOO GOOD FOR COSTA MESANS

Sensational Moundsman Is 6-1 Victor; Lets Rivals Down with Four Bingles

Backed by faultless playing of his teammates, Barney Hodges, pitching phenom of the Laguna Beach team, won his seventh straight game against Costa Mesa yesterday, 6 to 1, and the caversmen finished their Orange County Spring league season without a defeat. Hodges let the Costa Mesans down with only four hits.

Laguna Beach hit "Fuzzy" Page hard, the eight hits off his delivery going for 12 bases. Five of the six runs made by the Caversmen were earned. Costa Mesa earned one run.

Costa Mesa tried hard to stop the Laguna Beach outfit and it was a pitcher's battle for seven innings between Hodges and Page, with Hodges having the edge 2 to 1. In the last two innings the visitors went after Page and slammed his delivery for four hits, good for seven bases, and a total of four tallies.

Hodges is a bear for work. He pitched a 10-inning game at Glendale on Saturday and was feeling fine on Sunday. To show his control, after Ibrig, the second man up in the first inning had singled, the next 16 Costa Mesa batters went out in a row.

Erle Jamison leads the Laguna Beach players, in batting, who have played in five or more games, with an average of .434. In the first five games he had an average of .526. The popular first baseman was out of the last Westminster game and his average suffered when he failed to get a hit in four trips yesterday. Jamison was at bat 23 times in six games and made 10 safeties. The team average for the seven games was .255.

The Caversmen have won their last 12 starts and have lost only one game in the last 16 played, a percentage of .941. They have played an even 30 games since last September, winning 24 and losing 5 and tying one, for a percentage of .878. The season developed two remarkable pitchers, Willie Rangel and Barney Hodges, who were backed by a hard hitting and aggressive team.

CARSONS LEAD LOCAL TENNIS INDOOR LEAGUE TEAMS AT 'Y' SEASIDE CLUB

By JOE WILLIAMS
HENDERSONVILLE, N. C., May 10—Rolling through Florida two months back I had come on Gene Tunney doing light training on the beach just outside of Miami and the chit-chat of the hour had inevitably turned to fighting—and to Dempsey.

The soldier batter had a notion that sooner or later he would get the champion into the ring and he was in a mood to discuss his prospects.

Tunney expressed the belief that a body attack stressing the expert and vigorous usage of a left hook would bring about the downfall of Dempsey.

It should be mentioned that Tunney possesses a remarkable left hook to the body. Technically it is known to him as the "liver punch," for the obvious reason that the force of the attack is directed at the liver.

Tunney used this punch to start Georges Carpentier on his way to a knockout and subsequently he belabored the antiquated Tommy Gibbons with the same weapon, accomplishing a complete surrender.

Draws Parallels

Tunney was inclined to draw a parallel between Carpentier and Dempsey because of the prolonged inactivity of the American champion.

"The Frenchman couldn't stand them in the stomach," said Tunney. "and I rather think Dempsey will buckle up under the same kind of shots."

I asked Dempsey today what he thought of his challenger's reasoning. Shrugging his big shoulders and half laughing, he answered: "I never saw anybody who liked to get punched in the stomach."

Dempsey was reading a letter at the time. He read it through. Then he repeated my words. "So Gene thinks I'll go out like Carpentier did if he hits me in the belt, eh? Well maybe he's right but I'll have to vote 'no'."

To begin with Carpentier was a frail fighter. He was particularly frail in the region of the stomach. I ought to know. I bent him double with the first body blow I landed in our fight at Jersey City. Everybody who ever fought the Frenchman, went after his stomach."

Has No Illusions

Dempsey has no illusions about being better than ever. He realizes his lay-off hasn't helped him any. But he has a sincere belief that he can work himself back into tip-top fighting shape and that he will be strong as a rugger when he climbs between the ropes in September.

"At any rate I don't think any-

ALHAMBRA HAMMERS RISTER, BEATS S. A.

If the Carsons' baseball team of the United Brethren church continue the terrific pace they have set in Division A of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. Pioneer league, they probably will go through their season undefeated champions.

The Carson players unceremoniously toppled over the strong Columbus—Ojibway club by the score of 15 to 7 Saturday. Sullivan pitched and hit in a stellar performance for the winners. Sullivan pitched and hit in a stellar performance for the winners. Sullivan pitched and hit in a stellar performance for the winners.

In the Pioneer league, Division B, championship honors hinge on the playoff of the postponed game between the undefeated First Methodist Tigers and the Spurgeon Memorial Sutters. The Tigers are conceded the edge for in the week-end playoffs they defeated the First Congregational Trailblazers, 18 to 6, while the Sutters were taking a 12 to 1 drubbing from the First Baptist Ashmores.

ALHAMBRA HAMMERS RISTER, BEATS S. A.

Cuffing "Tex" Rister's choicest offerings unmercifully, Alhambra high school's baseball team retained its lead in the Coast Preparatory league by defeating Coach Lyman Kidman's Santa Ana team, 14 to 0, at Alhambra Saturday. The upset definitely eliminated the locals from the title race.

Kidman's men have one more contest to play this season. They are scheduled to meet San Diego, tied with Alhambra for first place, at Poly field next Saturday. San Diego blanked South Pasadena, 8 to 0, Saturday.

Fifty-two thousand fans watched Ty Cobb knock out two homers in a wild, free hitting game in which the Tigers beat the Yanks, 14 to 10.

Piping 'Em Off

Yesterday's Hero—Bob McGraw of the Robins, who pitched his fourth victory in as many starts when he let down the Cardinals with five hits in a 3 to 1 encounter.

Shortstop Myers' stop and throw in the ninth inning saved a 6 to 5 victory for the Senators over the White Sox.

EXPERIENCE OF WESTERN GIRL

Found Cannery Work Too Tiring

The fertile valleys of Oregon help to supply the tables of America. This is possible thru the magic of the humble tin can.

In one of the canning establishments, Julia Schmidt was employed. It was complicated work because she did sealing and other parts of the work. It was strenuous work and she was not a strong girl. Often she forced herself to work when she was hardly able to sit at her machine. At times she would have to stay at home for she was so weak she could hardly walk. For five years she was in this weakened condition. She tried various medicines. At last, a friend of hers spoke of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Miss Schmidt gave it a trial. "Everyone says I am a healthier and stronger girl," she writes. "I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends who tell me how they suffer and I am willing to answer letters from women asking about it." Julia Schmidt's address is 652 North Front St., Salem, Oregon. For sale by all druggists.

THREE ATTRACTIVE DAUGHTERS OF MAJOR GENERAL STANLEY IN CHORAL UNION PLAY

Kathleen Owens, as Edith; Helen Bennett, who takes the role of Kate, and Eva Taylor, who sings the part of Isabel. These three daughters of Major General Stanley are three of the reasons for their adoration of the sea for the prosaic land profession of burglary. The other reasons for their adoration were Major Stanley's other daughters. The army official's daughters are one of the brightest spots in the Orange County Choral union production, "The Pirates of Penzance," to be presented Tuesday and Wednesday nights in the high school auditorium.

CHAMP NOT WORRIED ABOUT GENE TUNNEY

body is going to stop me with one punch in the stomach," went on Dempsey, "and that goes for either Tunney or Wills."

It is not a simple matter to hit Dempsey in the stomach, fighting as he does in a semi-crouch and using a weaving, bobbing style.

Few of his opponents have been able to hit him solidly in the vicinity of the belt.

The only fight in which he has taken any real punishment since winning the title was the one with Firpo, and in this fight the punches that brought his misery were right-handers to the head and jaw.

Not that this means anything. Firpo certainly isn't in Tunney's class as a fighter; he knew nothing at all about fighting, whereas Tunney is a great infighter.

BUENA PARK NEWS

BUENA PARK, May 10.—A large barn on the ranch at Dale and Olive road, owned by A. Kasviner, of Los Angeles, was destroyed by fire Thursday evening. The local fire department arrived too late to save the barn but prevented the fire spreading to other buildings. John Rodgers, foreman of the ranch, was in Buena Park when the fire started.

Mitchell brothers have purchased the lot north of their garage and intend to tear down the building now on the lot and build an addition to the garage.

The Ladies Aid society will serve a cafeteria supper in the hall Friday evening.

Pirates of Penzance Will Be Presented Tuesday, Wednesday Nights

It's a hard life, this tossing on the sea and picking a precarious living from ships that fall into your hands. This is a fact that any first-class pirate, who is in good standing in the union, will tell you. But in spite of its hardships, piracy is comparatively honest when compared to the life within the pale of civilization, same pirate will declare.

Because of this comparative honesty, it is hard to get a pirate to quit the sea—at least it was a hard task in the days of "The Pirates of Penzance," and could only be accomplished through some extraordinary circumstance.

One beautiful girl was always considered a good reason for a pirate quitting his criminal career, but when a whole bevy of beautiful damsels appears on the scene, an entire pirate band can be excused for trading its sea boots for patent leather pumps and Oxford bags, or whatever the well-dressed man about town wore in the early 18th century.

That is just what happens to the Orange County Choral union production of "The Pirates of Penzance," the comic opera by Gilbert and Sullivan that is to be presented Tuesday and Wednesday nights in the high school auditorium.

Never in the history of the Choral union has such a mass of dainty femininity ever been assembled for one chorus. Not only are the girls in the chorus of "exceeding beauty," but they can sing and are daintily costumed. It is not a difficult task to assemble a chorus that is pleasing to the eye or a chorus that can sing, but any producer of musical comedy will tell the whole world that the assembling of a chorus that is 100 per cent restful to the eyes and can sing is a job that brings premature gray hairs.

Ellis Rhodes, director of the Choral union production, has accomplished this task and none of the girls was imported, either. They represent the various Orange county communities.

Mexicans Release Episcopal Bishop

MEXICO CITY, May 10.—Dean H. Dobson Peacock, bishop of the British Episcopal church, who was arrested on a charge of violating the religious laws, observance of which was a condition of his residence here, has been released on his own recognizance.

The British legation, in a statement, said:

"We are investigating the technicalities involved in the alleged violations of the law by Bishop Peacock."

The department of the interior indicates he will be deported.

STOCKTON SCOUTS FILE GOLD CLAIM

STOCKTON, Calif., May 10.—Troop 9, Stockton Boy Scouts, has discovered gold in "them thar hills" of the Calaveras river canyon district.

A placer mining claim in the county recorder's office, filed by the Rattlesnake Scouts Placer Mining company, which is nothing other than Troop 9 itself, stands as positive evidence that the things the great Dan Beard may have neglected to put in his famous manual a good Boy Scout is going to find out for himself.

The claim asks title to 160 acres. It is signed by scoutmaster and scouts. They aren't exactly clear as to what's to be done with it. But anyway they have filed on it and have expressed hope that it will pay their expenses at the scouts' summer camp if not provide certain luxuries for the common good.

Eddie Martin, using Macmillan Gasoline takes First Honors at Brea Air Meet.....

First in the High Speed Free for All—First in the Sport Plane Race—First in the Free for All Stunt Contest—Second in the Jenny Scramble—Over one third of the prize money offered—The silver cup given by the Anaheim Elks Club.

That tells the story of Eddie Martin's sensational victories in the Brea Air-meet Saturday; that tells the story as the spectators saw it. But there is another story, more vivid than the spectacular sweep of planes as they were driven on to victory or defeat. There is the story of long hours of labor in the oil fields—there is the story of the careful refining process in the refinery—then there is the story of the laboratory, where men work night and day, forever testing gasoline. In brief—there is the story of the manufacture of Macmillan Gasoline, that High Grade Motor Fuel which, while behind the scenes in Saturday's drama, yet played an important role.

In the Free-For-All-Speed Contest, flying low to the ground and at a terrific speed, where a moment's hesitancy on the part of the motor would have spelled disaster, in the death-defying stunt contest—where smooth continuous power was essential—in every event entered by Eddie Martin, Macmillan Gasoline was that silent participant that furnished smooth continuous power—that power that lead him on to taking chances which no other Aviator would take, those chances which lead to an ultimate victory.

The same Macmillan Gasoline which Eddie Martin relies upon for the safe and continuous operation of his Aeroplane motors is sold by dozens of Independent Macmillan Dealers. Experience the same feeling of confidence in motor operation that he has experienced—fill up your tank today.

IVANHOE—Sir Walter Scott's Classic in Pictorial Form

IN THEIR SECOND ENCOUNTER THE TEMPLAR AIMED AT THE CENTER OF HIS ANTAGONIST'S SHIELD, AND STRUCK IT SO FAR THAT HIS SPEAR WENT TO SHIVERS, AND THE DISINHERITED KNIGHT REELED IN HIS SADDLE. THE LATTER, HOWEVER, HAD DIRECTED HIS SPEAR AT BOIS-GUILBERT'S HELMET. IT HIT THE NORMAN FAIR AND TRUE ON THE VISOR.

THE TEMPLAR COULD NOT KEEP HIS SEAT UNDER THE IMPACT. SADDLE, HORSE AND MAN ROLLED TO THE GROUND UNDER A CLOUD OF DUST. HE SPRANG UP, ENRAGED, AND DREW HIS SWORD. HIS CONQUEROR JUMPED FROM HIS HORSE, READY TO MEET HIM, BUT THE TIMELY ARRIVAL OF HERALDS PREVENTED A BLOODY ENCOUNTER.

THE VICTOR THEN COMMANDED THE HERALDS TO SOUND A DEFIANCE TO THE CHALLENGERS. THE GIANTIC FRONT-DE-BOEUF ARMED IN ABLE ARMOR WAS THE FIRST WHO TOOK THE FIELD. OVER THIS CHAMPION THE DISINHERITED KNIGHT GAINED A SLIGHT BUT DECISIVE ADVANTAGE. FRONT-DE-BOEUF LOSING A STIRUP IN THE ENCOUNTER.

IN ORDER THEN HE WAS CHALLENGED BY MALVOISIN, DE GRANTMESNIL, AND DE VIVONT OVER ALL OF WHOM HE WAS VICTORIOUS. THE ACCLAMATION OF THOUSANDS THEN APPLAUDED THE UNANIMOUS AWARD OF PRINCE JOHN AND THE MARSHALS ANNOUNCING THE HONORS TO THE DISINHERITED KNIGHT. IT WAS HIS RIGHT TO NAME THE QUEEN OF LOVE AND BEAUTY. (To Be Continued)

The WOMAN'S DAY

by Allene Sumner

Mama's Only-Only!
Mama's and papa's darling, the only child, has a chance to be as normal and, in general, as acceptable a member of society, as the child with brothers and sisters. This finding comes from a psychologist who has tested a miscellaneous bunch of youngsters and finds that the only child is no more selfish, no more queer, no more abnormal in any way, than any other species of offspring. Good news for parents in this day when a baby costs half a year's salary!

Our Dainty Feet!
What do mine eyes behold? Titled English beauty, touring America, raves on about the dainty American woman with her beautiful tiny feet and ankles. Sounds suspiciously to me like a certain toothsome morsel cooked from the apple fruit! Shoe dealers tell me that they sell more 7's and 8's wide than any other number.

Dollar a Kiss!
Here's a riddle for married people. How long should a couple be married in order to total 25,000 kisses? A Chicago judge awards a fair plaintiff $25,000 extra or $1 a kiss for the 25,000 kisses which she should have had, but never did have, in her married life. Just one kiss a day would take almost 70 years to make the 25,000! The judge must figure that the normal married life demands them before, during and after meals.

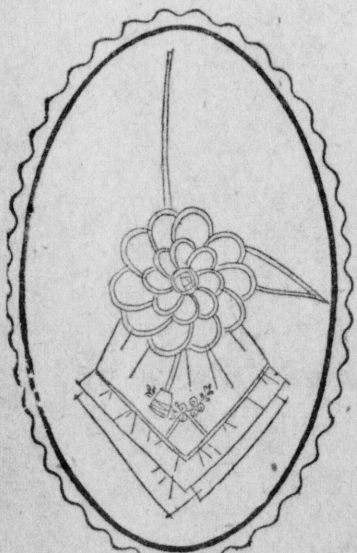

A Budget Machine
A budget machine has been patented by a Mrs. Annie Peaks Kennedy which automatically tells the family with a fixed income what should be spent for various items. One merely fixes the dial at the yearly income and a button does the rest. The invention of this age was prophesied. Much has been said about budgets, but their making has heretofore been too involved for the average home-maker's mentality. One week's wage for rent or payment on home, says the machine; half that amount for heat, light, laundry, telephone, ice; one-fifth of income for food, one-tenth for clothes.

Twin Garters
In ladylike Queen Victoria's time they called table legs "table limbs." Girls did not wear fancy garters those days. Wasted effort! Today they wear two, narrow ones above the knee, wider ones to match below. Fetching!

Avast, Pigsknuckles!
If you look not upon the liver when it is red or the steak when it is brown; if, in short, you are vegetarian only you will like "The Golden Rule Cook Book" by Freshel which tells how to make even the lowly spinach taste like ambrosia divine and gives complete vegetarian menus of even banquet dimensions.

Two Famous Girls
Last spring an English girl wrote the season's best seller. She was Margaret Kennedy, author of "The Constant Nymph." This year "A slip of a girl," Sylvia Thompson, writes "The Hounds of Spring," promised as the season's best seller. Both girls are alumnae of the same English schools. Maybe something in this idea that every little school has a specialty all its own!

DISTANCE AND THE GOLF BALL

When first the game of golf began The earliest manufacturer ran An ad which read: "The ball to buy Is ours. Two hundred yards 'twill fly!"

Next year the distance was increased I'd say by twenty yards at least. Two-hundred was the promised flight in ads the old boys used to write.

And, with the following winter o'er, We learned they'd added ten yards more, And ten yards more with every spring Until we'd lost all reckoning.

With naught to do because it rained I added up this yardage gained, And found, by running through the files, A ball should carry seven miles.

I do not doubt these ads at all, I know they have improved the ball, Nor do I ask the pill I swat So splendidly to clear the lot.

The maximum of promised flight, I do not pray for, day or night. Seven miles would be too long a drive, I'd really be content with five.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NO. 7—THE OLD MAN OF THE HILL

Right on the tippy topmost top stood a house.

The Twins and the Whiffet followed the shadow they had seen flitting across the rain-barrel. "It went that way," said Nick. "Up under the hill! It may have been your shadow, little Whiffet, looking for you."

"Oh, I hope so," said the little Whiffet. "Let's hurry. Maybe we'll catch up."

So puffing and running they reached the hill, and up they climbed.

At the top it was very windy, and the white clouds flew by like gusts of smoke from big bon fires.

Right on the tippy topmost stood a house. And on the gate it said, "OLD MAN OF THE HILL LIFT UP THE LATCH AND WALK IN. STRANGERS WELCOME IF THEY ARE GOOD-NATURED!"

In marched the three of them and lifted the knocker on the door. "Bang!" it fell against the door with a crash.

Instantly the door opened and there stood the Old Man of the Hill. "That didn't sound good-natured," he said. "Are you sure you have good dispositions and know all the don'ts and do's of good behavior?"

"Quite sure," said Nancy, dropping a curtsy. "And we beg your pardon for making such a noise. But really we didn't make it. It was the knocker. It doesn't know the don'ts and do's of good behavior, I'm sure."

The Old Man of the Hill laughed heartily. "That's right," he declared. "Quite right. I suppose the people in the valleys think it's thunder and rush out to take their washings off the line every time I have company. I'll attend to it at once. Now, my friends, what may I do for you?"

Nancy and Nick and their odd little friend all started at the same time to tell their story.

"So you lost your shadow coming over the stile," said the Old Man when they had finished. "Is that it?"

"Yes sir!" said the Whiffet. "And we saw one just a few minutes ago crossing the yard by the rain-barrel. It came right up the hill here to your house. It may have been my shadow looking for me. Did you see it?"

"I've been eating my lunch and I did not see it," said the Old Man of the Hill. "I've been having a cold snack of pussy-willow salad and preserved rain-drops. But come out to my shadow-patch and we'll see."

They followed the Old Man to a nice green grassy place all fenced in on four sides.

And there racing over the ground were shadows of every kind and description. Bird shadows, fairy shadows, bear shadows, ship shadows, house shadows—people, trees jumping-jacks, dogs, waves, kites, almost everything that has a name. "Are these all lost shadows?" asked Nick. "Did they come here to stay?"

"No," said the Old Man of the Hill. "Just to visit. Look up and you'll see where they came from."

"It's the clouds!" cried Nancy. "These are all cloud shadows, aren't they, Mister Old Man of the Hill?"

"Yes," said the Old Man. "And they are all the commonest I have. They are quiet and kind and never quarrel. It must have been a cloud shadow you saw, that was coming to make me a call."

HAIR AND WARM WEATHER

If your hair has been coming out lately don't be too much alarmed. As soon as warm weather sets in the healthiest hair begins to shed hair, and continues to do so usually for a month or six weeks. It is also apt to shed late in September and early October. But even though it is not a sign of ill health you should use a hair tonic.

There are hundreds of brands of tonic on the market, and some of them are very good, though what is good for another head may not suit yours at all. You should ask a hair specialist or your own doctor for a formula, unless you can work out for yourself your trouble.

color. If you are under 30 you will not need the pilocarpine, which is the most expensive part of this tonic.

If your hair is very dry use 20 drops of castor oil instead of ten, or even 30. If your hair is excessively oily leave it out altogether, but remember that the best way to fight oiliness of the scalp is with oil, and that you should give your head an oil rub before druff leave out the sulphur.

and its cure. I am giving today the prescription for the best general tonic I know, and suggestions for changing it to suit specific needs. The formula is:

Pilocarpine hydrochlorate 2 grains
Precipitated Sulphur.....30 grains
Carbon Detergent.....30 drops
Castor Oil.....10 drops
Alcohol (95 per cent).....4 ounces
Tincture of Cantharides.....4 drams
Rose Water (to make).....8 ounces

This is the complete formula, and its special value is that the pilocarpine acts on the color cells, the shampoo. If you have very healthy hair and no trace of dandruff, preventing premature greyness, and in many cases curing it; in any case giving the hair a richer

You can keep your hair relieved of the oil and prevent unnecessary shampoos, if you rub with soft towels just as if you were drying the hair. You can do this every few days or as often as your hair looks packed from too much oil in it. It should look even better after the rubbing than after a shampoo.

The appointment of a city engineer has been under consideration for some time and the trustees now have eight applications on file. The office was created about one year and a half ago by the trustees. The comptroller has the power to purchase all small articles and all purchases must first be authorized by law. The time of the trustees is thus not taken up with numerous requests to purchase small articles, it is pointed out.

HILL RESIGNS AS PASTOR OF ORANGE CHURCH

ORANGE, May 10.—The Rev. Harry Hill, pastor of the First Christian church, announced his resignation from the local church to take effect after next Sunday, during the course of his Mother's day service yesterday. Although the Rev. Hill handed his resignation to the church officials some time ago, he had given no intimation to the public that such a course was contemplated.

The Rev. Hill has been with the local church for six years. Incorporated in the announcement was an invitation for all members of the church who were in the church when Hill first came to be present at next Sunday's meeting.

The Orange pastor is not planning to leave the ministry. He stated this morning that he probably will accept a pastorate in another city in California.

Yesterday's services were held especially for couples married by the Rev. Hill during his pastorate in Orange. About 12 couples received bouquets for attending. Bouquets were also given to Mrs. L. Ainsworth, 30, for being the oldest mother of the most children present and the mother of the youngest child present. A. A. Richards, 92, was remembered with a bouquet for being the oldest father present.

Linked with a good father and a good mother is a good home," stated Hill, in the course of his sermon.

Three mental pictures of a mother were drawn by the Rev. Hill. The first showed her at the cradle side. The second depicted the heavy burden of work many mothers are forced to do for their young people, and husbands who work only eight hours per day and then come home to be served by the mother whose work never ends. The third picture showed the mother, grey and worn, after her children have grown and left.

Special music for the services was furnished by the choir, which sang, "God Bless You Mother" and Mrs. Leon Des Larzes, who sang, "Tell Mother I'll Be There."

C. OF C. MEMBERSHIP

The membership campaign of the Chamber of Commerce begins tomorrow. The campaign has been authorized and planned by the directors on the theory that Chamber of Commerce membership, Chamber of Commerce business, Chamber of Commerce development, Chamber of Commerce maintenance, Chamber of Commerce work and activity of any and every nature is the business, the duty, the obligation, the responsibility, the pleasure, the opportunity of every good citizen. This is the spirit in which every member of the campaign committee of 54, headed by Sam Hurwitz as chairman, will approach you and every other good citizen of Santa Ana with regard to the renewal of your membership or the initial entrance of your time and talent and personality and money and interest into Chamber of Commerce work.

We believe it is this point of view, this interpretation, this spirit which has made every signal success in Chamber of Commerce work anywhere in this country.

We know, of course, that the Chamber of Commerce makes mistakes, that it does not always succeed in its undertakings, that it often does things that somebody doesn't like, that it doesn't always get the greatest possible value for the money it spends. But that is true of you and your business and of every individual and organization.

The Chamber of Commerce is made up of a large number of individuals, representing every possible business and profession and nearly every possible personal temperament, characteristic and mental and moral angle. It will be just as successful as those individuals make it, and whatever may be its weaknesses, they can be strengthened only as new elements of strength are brought into the organization.

However critical anyone may be of Chamber of Commerce work or management, probably not a single one of its most severe critics would say the Chamber of Commerce ought to be abolished. Obviously, then, the only thing for those who are not entirely satisfied with Chamber of Commerce work to do is join it and help it do better work, or correct its mistakes and add to its strength and efficiency.

If the membership of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce can be built up to a thousand or 1500 of the best citizens of Santa Ana, and then if every member will take sincere interest and an active part in the work of the Chamber of Commerce, it can be made a most powerful influence for good in the community.

A TRAFFIC OFFICER'S JOB

Henry Meehan, recently put in command of the Orange county squad of the state traffic police, makes himself plain, and from what we know of Captain Meehan we are sure he means just what he says. Here is what he said:

"There will be no ticket fixing under any circumstances. I am going to see that this practice is broken up entirely in this county. After a ticket is written and reported by an officer, it will go to the judge."

If Captain Meehan heeds to the line, as we have every reason to believe he will, he will have the support of the people of this county.

Ticket fixing is the curse of traffic law enforcement. There is but one way to conduct a traffic squad, and that is to see to it that a general policy of courtesy and fairness is established, that arrests are not made excepting when justified. Once an arrest is made the traffic officer has but one duty remaining, that is to present the evidence in court if called on to do so. The fixing of a ticket is an offense against the law and ought to be so treated.

And we commend the above paragraph to the attention of state motor squads other than our own, and to municipal traffic officers in general.

LET'S HAVE QUESTIONS

Again The Register urges voters of Santa Ana to send in questions concerning the two proposed bond issues and the two proposed special tax levies that are to be voted upon in Santa Ana May 26. These matters are of importance—great importance. There is nothing before the people of Santa Ana at this time that compares with them.

They are important matters—why?

Because they call for expenditures. The outfall sewer proposal asks for $182,000. The parks and equipment suggestion to the voters is for $250,000. If the publicity tax levy carries, Santa Ana may be taxed each year for as much as $10,000 for publicity purposes. The same amount may be raised each year for municipal music, if the music tax levy is voted. In each of the bonds proposals, the taxpayers for a period of years will be taxed to pay the interest and the bonds coming due each year. In each of the tax levy proposals, the Board of City Trustees will have the power to place the levy each year, with the maximum fixed at a rate of six cents on the $100. The council may or may not call for the maximum amount each year: it is expected that it will. No pledge can be made concerning the amounts to be called for by either of these tax levies, if carried. The taxpayer, however, is assured by the ordinance that the rate cannot be more than six cents on the $100, which at this time would raise approximately $10,000. As the assessed valuation of the city goes up, the maximum amount that can be raised will increase in proportion to the increase.

All of these matters are of importance. We believe that every voter should be informed fully as to each proposal. The Register considers it to be its duty to explain these proposals fully and impartially. That we may answer whatever questions may arise in the minds of the voters of the city we again urge that questions be sent to us by anyone who wants to know anything about any of the four proposals to be voted upon May 26.

PRaise FOR U. S. INDUSTRY

The British workmen who came to America to study industrial conditions have just been telling British bankers, merchants and manufacturers what they found. They are "enthusiastic about American methods, and particularly the spirit of friendly cooperation between the employers and employees which they found everywhere."

They emphasize "the willingness of American employers to pay high wages if they secure a high production in return," and readiness to scrap old machinery and give workers the best possible facilities for production. American workmen, they report, rise to meet these conditions, and so justify their high wages. The investigators tell their employers that British workmen are willing likewise to give a high production under the same conditions.

The British capitalists are said to have "listened patiently to this indictment of their methods." They can well afford to. It is likely that the salvation of British industry lies along the line indicated.

Incidentally Americans, whether associated with capital or labor, may glow with pride at this outside view of a situation which is not always praised so glowingly by our own critics.

Let's Stop Drunk Drivers

Fresno Republican

We have no evidence on which to criticize the decision of the district attorney and the court authorities to permit the driver of a "death car" to plead guilty to a minor charge and pay a fine of $500, when he was accused of driving when intoxicated. He should, if this latter charge were substantiated, have been sent to prison. We can not think of any money payment that would have any penalizing relation to the danger of having drunken automobile drivers.

The district attorney and the court doubtless did what in their judgment was right. But we suggest that it would be better public policy to avoid this sort of a "compromise" as a means of preserving the public morale. The $500 added to the public treasury is of minor importance. Subtracted from the accused man's private store, it may pinch him some. But as a public example, it has virtually no value at all. It permits the man to fall legally into the not too well defined class of men who are indifferent to the Wright or the Volstead acts and escape from that class to which definite "moral turpitude" is attached, that of men who muddle their brains as they go out on the highway with a death dealing machine.

The justice authorities should make a determined effort to have court proceedings, especially court charges, fit as nearly as possible to the facts and then to make court verdicts express those facts in relation to the law. Mere "convictions" should be of minor consideration.

And let's punish men severely who get drunk and take an auto car out on the highway.

Amateur Sports

Oakland Tribune

More than eighty ball games were played on the sandlots and playgrounds in Oakland yesterday. That means 160 teams, averaging fifteen boys or men to the team, cavorted in healthful exercise, took part in the game. Add to the 2400 participants some thousands more who were spectators and one may get the picture of the place amateur sport has in the city. If one hundred persons witnessed each game there were about 24,000 out to see the future Ty Cobb perform, and while this great host was centering its attention on baseball, as many if not more, were in the country whipping the streams for piscatorial response. At the risk of proving that there were few who did not engage in sport on the day, one might add in the crowds which attended the professional baseball games and make allowance for some hundreds who pitched horseshoes or engaged in other contests.

A community is better for a healthy interest in amateur sports. They afford an outlet to youthful energies, inculcate the principles of fair play, and bestow upon the participants healthful exercise. The 2400 boys who played baseball in Oakland, at least, were not burning up the highways or getting into mischief.

EMOTIONS AND HEALTH

The action of emotion seems to be largely through certain glands known as ductless glands, or better, glands of internal secretion.

The glands of internal secretion are the thyroid and parathyroids in the front of the neck, certain parts of the pancreas from which insulin was recently obtained, the pituitary gland at the base of the brain, the adrenals above the kidney and parts of certain other important organs.

Possibly many other organs and tissues are involved, but be this as it may, the fact remains that the organs of internal secretion play a large part in rearranging and regulating the chemical changes in the body.

The story of the so-called ductless glands and their relation to our activities, personalities, etc., is an interesting one but is in the main aside from our discussion tonight.

Upon the activity of one set of these glands, however, we must dwell, since a great deal of work has been done to show that they are active in our defense and are active in emotional states. These glands are the adrenals.

Each adrenal gland is composed of an external portion and a central portion. From the central portion can be extracted a chemical compound called adrenalin. Adrenalin, by the way, has been made by the chemist and is used in surgery to stop bleeding. If adrenalin is injected into the blood it will cause the pupils of the eyes to dilate, hairs to stand erect, blood vessels to be tightened, the activities of the alimentary canal to be stopped and sugar to be liberated from the liver.

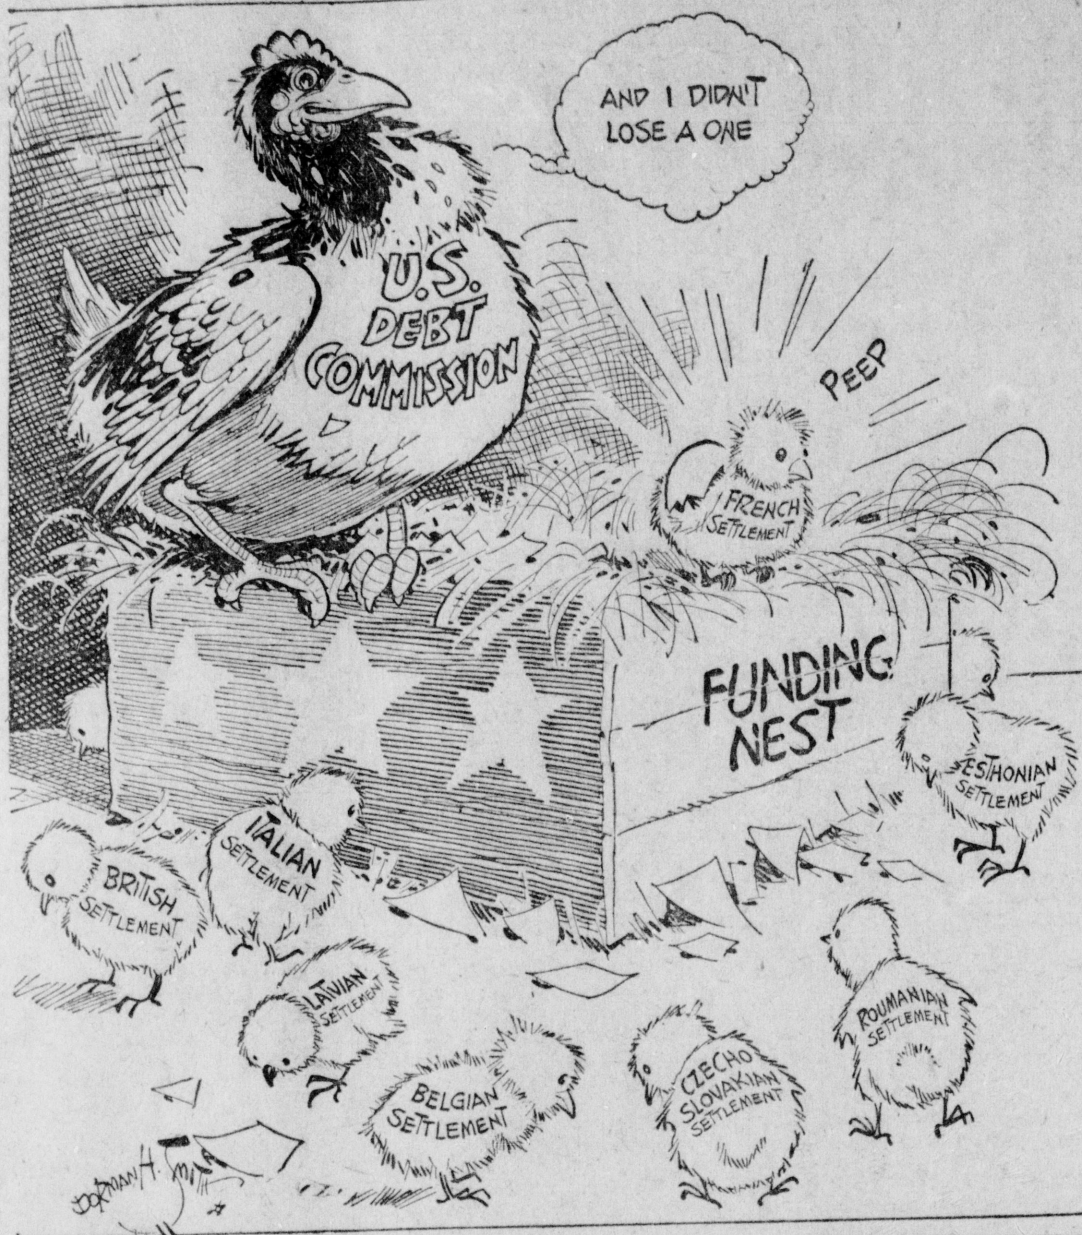

A number of investigators have shown that the secretion of adrenalin by the adrenal glands is increased in great emotion, that pain excites the glands in question to pour into the blood stream an increased amount of adrenalin and that fear and rage do the same thing. It makes the blood more rapidly coagulable; in short, it prepares for fight or flight, such as may be necessary in times of danger, fear, rage or pain.

The lesson we can draw from these facts is that in digesting, assimilating and rearranging the ingredients of our diet, the body works with a precise and admirable harmony in which all the organs and cells interplay; that good nature, especially at meal time and just preceding it, or better than good nature, a cheerful, courageous, poised, gives digestion and assimilation a boost and allows the inner harmony of the system to go on pleasantly and efficiently.

On the contrary, starting the day or the meal with cross, fretful, angry feelings tends to check digestion in the ordinary individual and to throw a greater stress on the inner harmony than is necessary for our customary vocations.

Strong emotions of fear, anger or peevishness at meal time will retard digestion and increase the tendency to sluggish elimination and the production of poisonous substances. Chemical states and emotions are linked together. Let us maintain them at their best, for our pleasure of our friends and for the greater joy of living all round.

All Hatched at Last

The Problem of Life

By Theodore Tilton

What is life? Who can make an inventory of this world's contents? What a panorama of nations has gone marching over our earth, each to fulfill its separate functions in human history! What arts and industries chasing every vagabond brook and mill-stream, and breaking it upon the wheel of some useful employment!

In the midst of this rich and royal stream of things which we will call the world, how small is each man's individual share! How much of all this could any man make his own?

You may give to a man all that his eyes can see, all that his ears can hear, all that his hands can hold, all that his mind can learn, all that his heart can feel, all that his soul can grasp, and how much, then, does a man possess of the whole world, in comparison with the unappropriated remainder of it!

Since, then, not the greatest man, nor the richest, nor the wisest, nor the strongest man, let him confront the world with whatsoever his right hand may most skillfully wield, ever can hope to conquer it—let every man give this up as a vain attempt, and seek instead to win the royal purple in the only way that remains, and that is, not by mastering of the world, but by mastering himself.

The problem of life is this, and this alone: It is the development of a man's character.

But mark, when I say character, I do not mean reputation. The two things are very different. A man's character is what he is; a man's reputation is what other people may imagine him to be.

Public men are constantly making and losing reputations as the stars set and rise; but there is this difference: The star that sets may rise again, but the star that falls is lost forever.

Worth While Verse

WYNKEN, BLYNKEN, AND NOD

Wynken, Blynken, and Nod one night

Sailed off in a wooden shoe—

Sailed on a river of misty light

Into a sea of dew;

"Where are you going and what do you wish?"

The old moon asked the three.

"We have come fishing for the herring-fish

That live in this beautiful sea;

Nets of silver and gold have we,"

Said Wynken, Blynken, and Nod.

The old moon laughed and sang a song,

As they rocked in the wooden shoe—

And the wind that sped them all night long

Ruffled the waves of dew;

The little stars were the herring-fish

That lived in that beautiful sea;

"Now cast your nets wherever you wish—

But never afared are we,"

So cried the stars to the fishermen three—

Wynken, Blynken, and Nod.

All night long their nets they threw

For the fish in the twinkling foam—

Then down from the sky came the wooden shoe

Bringing the fishermen home

'Twas all so pretty a sail, it seemed

As if it could not be,

And some folks thought 'twas a dream they'd dreamed

Of sailing that beautiful sea;

But I shall name you the fishermen three—

Wynken, Blynken, and Nod.

Wynken and Blynken are two little eyes,

And Nod is a little head,

And the wooden shoe that sailed the skies

Is a wee one's trundle-bed;

So shut your eyes while mother sings

Of wonderful sights that be,

And you shall see the beautiful things

As you rock on the misty sea,

Where the old shoe rocked the fishermen three—

Wynken, Blynken, and Nod.

The Very Idea!

By Hal Cochran

MR. SPARROW

He's a cheerful little fellow, with a chirp that's sound and mellow, and he never fails to call on me each day. There's no reason why I need him, but I sorta like to feed him, and I guess he's kinda glad I feel that way.

All the dogs around us chase him, and the cats will try to trace him as he flutters down to chirp his morning lay. I have really come to know him through the little crumbs I throw him, and I've never tried to frighten him away.

It is not the song he's singing, but the spirit that he's bringing. It is really hard to understand just why he so willingly rejoices when the God that gave our voices to the birds just seemed to pass this fellow by.

Other birds will warble loudly, and they flit around so proudly that my little friend, by most folk, seems forgot. Yet the sparrow's worth is ample for he sets a good example: just be cheerful—make the best of what you've got.

Councillor Hamratty of Ireland declares it would take a hundred modern dresses to make one old-fashioned shawl. And besides, who would wear the shawl if they had it?

The laundry lady quit her job. When half way through she got. For she believed in striking while The bloomin' iron was hot.

NOW, HONESTLY—

Every now and then you frown and look kinda sour, don't you? 'Stoolish! It doesn't make you feel happy—and it has the same effect on everybody else.

Unfortunately a frown is catching. And just suppose you started the whole world to frowning. What a heck of a place this would be to live in.

Don't take a chance. Smiling is catching, too. And when you see someone else smile—well, you just sorta feel good. Aw, go on—smile!

HOW THE OYSTER CRACKER

GOT ITS NAME: One crackermaker turned to his partner and said, "Well, now that we've started making these new crackers, what shall we call them?" And the partner replied, "Well, the little things don't look anything like oysters so let's call 'em oyster crackers."
